BOULDER DAM POWER LEASE PLAN SCORED

UTAH'S GOVERNOR ASSAILS WILBUR PROPOSAL

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1930, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Mar. 28—Trouble is brewing over the plan of Secretary Wilbur of the interior department to lease power at Boulder Dam.

Governor Dern of Utah, who is here today, insists that the interior department has broken faith with the upper basin states in that the proposed arrangement does not give Utah a chance to participate in surplus earnings.

"The State of Utah," said the governor, "made possible the passage of the Boulder Canyon project act by ratifying the Colorado river compact on a six-state basis. Utah took this action on the condition that the government should develop the Colorado river according to a comprehensive plan, of which the Boulder Canyon project should be the first unit, and that the Boulder Dam power should be sold at fair market prices so that not only should the government's investment be returned within 50 years, but that the surplus earnings might be used to build up a fund out of which other proposed projects, such as Flaming Gorge and Dewey, might be built.

"Amendments to this end were written into the act before passage, and we felt that a settlement had been reached whereby all the states in the Colorado river basin should benefit by the government's development of the river. It was assumed that Utah, no less than California, would thereby receive cheap electric power to promote her industrial growth.

Utah Loses Out

"The allocation of the power to be developed by the Boulder Canyon Dam project completely ignores the condition upon which Utah ratified the six-state compact and supported the bill. The power is now proposed to be sold at the lowest price that will return the government's investment in fifty years; hence there will be no surplus earnings out of which additional projects might be built.

"Although southern Utah is in the lower basin and is therefore entitled to the same regional benefits as are accorded to Arizona, California and Nevada, and although southern Utah is closer to the Boulder Dam than is Los Angeles, Utah is denied any share of Boulder Dam power, and the development of the southern part of our state must continue to be retarded by the present high cost of generating power in that area. There can be neither excuse nor explanation for this exhibition of favoritism for the other lower basin states and discrimination against Utah.

Handicaps Utah

"Moreover, the industrial development of the entire state of Utah is sacrificed to California, Nevada and Arizona by giving those states cheap power and perpetually denying it to Utah. We cannot hope to attract new industries to Utah in the face of

Carbolic Acid Mixed With Ginger is Cause of Paralysis Epidemic

Washington, March 28 (AP)—A drink of crude carbolic acid or creosote and alcohol flavored with ginger and sold by unscrupulous bootleggers as Jamaica ginger was said by Prohibition Commissioner Doran today to be the concoction that had caused hundreds of cases of paralysis in southern and southwestern states.

The commissioner made his announcement after prohibition bureau chemists had tested more than a hundred samples of "Jamaica ginger" collected in localities where cases of paralysis have been reported. He said that while it was hard to understand how any one of the ingredients in the mixture alone could have caused the paralysis, the combination had resulted in quick paralysis to those who had used it as a beverage.

Lots of Creosote

Tests made by the bureau chemists, the commissioner said, showed that three-fourths to seven-eighths of the solid contents of the drink had been either creosote or carbolic acid and that the alcoholic content was as high as 80 or 90 per cent.

"Some scheming bootlegger who wanted to get rich quick devised the mixture and distributed it widely in the southern and southwestern states, where biting drinks have always been a favorite," Doran said. "We have traced the stuff to three focal points, two of which are in Cincinnati and St. Louis and we expect to follow the trail until we have the perpetrators under arrest.

"The mixture is little better than 'sheep dip' used to disinfect flocks of sheep."

Stained Finger Nail

While Commissioner Doran was explaining the result of the chemical tests, he held up the index finger of his right hand. The nail and tip was discolored to a dark brown and smelled of carbolic acid.

The commissioner explained that he had placed the tip of his finger in some of the "Jamaica ginger" sent here to be tested. Three washings, he said, had failed to take off the stain or smell.

"And that," he added, "is what some persons are drinking as an intoxicating beverage."

BOTH FACTIONS CLAIM VICTORY

Balloting on Merger to Be Held April 8; Eaton Opposes

Youngstown, O., March 28 (AP)—Opponents and proponents of the proposal to merge Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with the Bethlehem Steel corporation, both claimed victory tonight in the battle for proxies. The balloting, 11 days hence, will put an end to the struggle.

The claim that sufficient votes are pledged to the committee favoring the merger to assure its success, was made today by James A. Campbell, chairman of the Sheet and Tube board.

Campbell's statement flatly contradicted the claim made yesterday by Cyrus S. Eaton, leader of the anti-merger group that he has more than enough votes pledged to defeat it.

"We say with full responsibility," Campbell said, "that proxies already in our hand leave no doubt in my mind that the merger will be approved."

"Enough Votes Already"

The stockholders meeting, April 8, will give the final decision. The total possible vote is 1,185,600 and proponents of the merger will need 790,000 votes to approve it.

Eaton, who reputedly owns or directly controls about 200,000 votes and is the largest single stockholder, said yesterday that 412,571 votes already are pledged against the merger, about 17,000 more than sufficient to defeat it even if every share in the company is voted.

With the possibility that proxy pledges may be changed from one committee to another between now and the stockholders meeting, the rival proxy committees continued their broadsides by letter, telephone, telegraph and cable, asserting to stockholders their respective claims for and against the deal that is intended to make Bethlehem a billion dollar concern.

Eaton is expected to return here tomorrow morning, to continue conferences with stockholders and community leaders in an effort to strengthen his position.

Man Slays Daughter, Takes His Own Life

Scottsville, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Bodies of John W. Schwass, 73, and his daughter, Miss Clara Schwass, 34, were found at the Schwass home here late today. The daughter had been beaten to death in her bed with a heavy hammer, and Schwass' body was hanging from a woodshed rafter.

After an investigation authorities announced that evidence showed Schwass had killed his daughter and then committee suicide. A post mortem revealed that he had swallowed poison before hanging himself.

EXPERTS SEEK PEACE FORMULA

Opposition Has Formed Against Consultative Treaty

BY FRANK H. KING

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Mar. 28 (AP)—While the American delegation to the London naval conference today was busy making clear its position regarding the proposed consultative treaty and Mediterranean security pact, British and French experts continued seeking a formula which will satisfy France's security demands without increasing Great Britain's European obligations.

Formal conference meetings today included a talk between Secretary Stimson and Minister MacDonald at No. 10 Downing street this morning. Foreign Minister Briand, meanwhile, visited the foreign office to continue discussion of the French security problem with Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister.

Tonight, after the lord chancellor's reception to the naval delegation at the house of lords, Mr. MacDonald went to Chequers for a week-end rest. Mr. Stimson retired to his country place at Stanmore, where Arthur Wilson Page, his personal aide, and Mrs. Page will be his guests.

Dino Grandi of the Italian delegation and Reijiro Wakatsuki of the Japanese group also planned excursions from London but M. Briand fortified himself behind a barrier of books in his hotel and indicated that he did not wish to be disturbed.

OPPOSITION MEASURES

Washington, Mar. 28 (AP)—Senate opposition to American participation in the consultative pact proposed at the London naval parley increased today, with Senator Swanson, of Virginia, the ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee denouncing it as a "snare and delusion."

Rumors reached the capitol that President Hoover had indicated his opposition to the consultative pact to the American delegation but there was no confirmation of this. The silence on the turn of events at the London conference continued at the White House.

Senator Swanson took note of the reports that the president is opposed to such pact and expressed the hope that "he will adhere to a decision not to enter into such a pact as the price for naval agreement."

He said: "I hope the report that President Hoover is opposed to such a pact is true."

Mexican Has Found Means to Convert Lead Into Silver

Mexico City, Mar. 28 (AP)—The newspaper El Universal today printed prominently the claims of a young Mexican chemist named Jose Esparza that he had discovered a means to convert lead into silver.

The process is said to consist in mixing a powder, the secret of which Esparza has refused to divulge, with molten lead. When the mixture cools, the result is silver.

Samples taken by the newspaper's reporters to the mineral assay department of the government were analyzed and pronunoced to contain 91 per cent silver.

El Universal is arranging for further tests.

Green Speaks at Chicago Meeting

Chicago, March 28 (AP)—Governor Green of Michigan urged universal conscription in time of war, preparedness in time of peace, and scrupulous withdrawal from foreign entanglements in an address before the Chicago chapter of the United States War Veterans here tonight.

"It is not right," said the governor, "to take the bravest men of a nation and put them in positions where they will be slaughtered, while others are exempt from conscription. Every one ought to serve in war time. Of course—I understand that the business men are just as willing to fight, but I would like to see it down on books so that they will have to fight in the next war."

WIELD CLUBS AT MUTINEERS

"Hard Boiled" Tactics Used to Get Prison Situation in Hand

Jefferson, Mo., March 28 (AP)—The backbone of the Missouri prison revolt was believed to have been broken late today when a group of 500 convicts who mutinied Wednesday and Thursday in the dining hall went meekly to dinner after nearly thirty hours of enforced fasting.

Whereas Wednesday they had rebelled against the food and Thursday rioted in the dining room, today they ate silently and at a given signal filed from the hall with alacrity and in orderly fashion.

Warden Leslie Ragmiph, who today put into effect strict rules designed to make the penitentiary a "hard boiled" prison, said the situation now is completely in hand and that he believes the trouble is over.

Carrying out his edict to rule with an iron hand, prison guards wielded their clubs today at the least provocation with the result that the casualty list of convicts mounted to seventy five, most of whom were treated in the prison hospital for head injuries.

Late today prison officials named twenty two as the most desperate convicts in the penitentiary as ring leaders in the two days of disorder and sent them to solitary confinement in the punishment house. Some twenty others also were in solitary confinement pending further investigation.

More than 3,000 of the 4,000 convicts in the penitentiary were kept locked in cells as prison factories remained idle, and were fed only after having missed their evening meal last night and breakfast this morning. Factories are to remain idle until Monday.

The only clash today was a brief skirmish between guards and fifteen convicts who became gruff when taken from their cells. They were clubbed and sent to the hospital.

Among those named as instigators of the revolt was Walter Dipley, who is serving life for the murder of Stanley Ketchell, former middleweight boxing champion of the world who was slain near Springfield.

Labor Federation Will Oppose Parker

Washington, March 28 (AP)—President Green of the American Federation of Labor, announced tonight that the organization would oppose the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be an associate justice of the supreme court.

Aged Indian Woman is Witness in Murder Case

Buffalo, N. Y., March 28 (AP)—Old Ann Snow, withered little Cayuga Indian woman who didn't like Henri Marchand the artist, because he "bothered" Lila Jimerson, her niece, related in court here today she had heard the artist say he did not care whether or not his wife lived out her days.

The wife, Clothilde Marchand, since that time has been killed, the result of what the white man's government charges was an Indian plot. Lila Jimerson is on trial accused as an accomplice in the slaying to which the aged Nancy Bowen has confessed.

The state contends that Lila had told the aged Nancy, Mrs. Marchand was a "white witch" who had invoked her magic to bring illness and misfortune on Nancy.

Mutters Testimony

Marchand testified yesterday to an intimacy with Lila and the state is trying to prove that Lila plotted to dispose of Mrs. Marchand so that sh would win the exclusive affections of the artist.

Ann Snow today muttered her testimony in the ancient Cayuga tongue and a stolid Indian interpreter told the jury what she had said.

Her testimony was not clear, even after the interpreter had listened closely to her muttering and had attempted to put it into English.

It seemed Henri Marchand had come on one of his many week end visits to the Cattaraugus reservation and the Jimerson home on the banks of Burning Springs creek. His wife was with him on this particular trip, the court understood, but at the moment of the conversation concerning her had left the room. There also was present "another party," the interpreter thought an Indian woman, by the name Ada Wheeler.

Prosecution Rests Case

The court stenographer and the Indian interpreter said this was the only way Ann heard the talk of the white artist:

"Only one time he says when

IRISH CABINET RESIGNS; MAY BE REELECTED

COSGRAVE WILL BE OPPOSED BY DE VALERA

Dublin, Iirsh Free State, March 28 (AP)—William T. Cosgrave, president of the executive council of the Irish Free State and head of the oldest ministry in post-war Europe, announced the resignation of his government today as a result of its defeat by two votes on an opposition pensions bill in the Dail Eireann last night. The Dail then adjourned until next week.

Expect Re-election

The prevailing opinion in political circles tonight was that he almost certainly would be reelected president of the council when the Dail reassembles on Wednesday.

Under the novel, the still experimental, ministerial system of the Free State, the way is open for his reelection. Resignation of a government does not necessarily result in a general election, and since Mr. Cosgrave's voting strength in the Dail was not really impaired by his defeat yesterday there will be no call to the country.

The chief opposition party, the Fianna Fail, which has 57 members in the Dail, has sent for its leader, Eamonn de Valera, now in the United States. Senator T. O'Kelly, leader of the Fianna in De Valera's absence, who called on Mr. Cosgrave to resign after the defeat yesterday, announced that the Republicans would nominate De Valera for the presidency of the council.

Third Candidate

The appearance of a third candidate tonight, in the person of T. J. O'Connell, parliamentay leader of the Irish Labor party, decidely decreased Mr. De Valera's chances of being elected. The Fianna Fail, outnumbered by the followers of Mr. Cosgrave must have the help of the Labor votes.

According to the Free State constitution, the president of the executive council, which is responsible to the Dail and usually consists of six or seven ministers, is selected by the Dail. Candidates are nominated in the Dail and the voting goes on until someone obtains a majority.

Deaths Were Caused By Carbon Monoxide

Jonesville, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Carbon monoxide poisoning today was announced as the cause of the death of Lowell Durfey and Miss Cecile Nye, each 17, Jonesville high school students, whose bodies were found in a cemetery here yesterday.

The cause of death was announced after autospy had been performed on the body of Miss Nye. The two students, both of whom were 17 years old, were found in Durfey's sedan. The motor had run until it had drained the gasoline tank.

DEATH SENTENCE

Auburn, N. Y., Mar. 28 (AP)—A jury here today convicted Anthony Mortelito, Auburn convict, of the fatal stabbing of Principal Keeper Edward B. Beckwith, on March 5. Sentence of death will be passed March 31.

LEAD FIGHT FOR STEEL MERGER

Three of the nation's leading executives of the steel industry are shown here at Youngstown, O., as they continued efforts to effect a merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethtlehem Steel Corporation, of Pennsylvania. They are Charles W. Schwab, left, chairman of Bethlehem, and Eugene G. Grace, right, president of Bethlehem, being greeted by James A. Campbell, center, chairman of Sheet and Tube, upon arrival at Youngstown.

LEWIS C. WOLFE DIES AT COOKS

Saw Active Service With Federal Troops in Civil War

Rapid River, Mar. 28 (Special)—Lewis C. Wolfe, age 82, the last Civil war veteran in Masonville township, died at the home of his son, Gordon Wolfe, at Cooks today. His death resulted from the complications of old age.

Mr. Wolfe first received a stroke of paralysis last fall and was taken to the hospital in a critical condition. He recovered sufficiently to return to the home of his son at Garden where he spent the winter. He received another stroke today which, coupled with the infirmities of old age, he was unable to resist.

Mr. Wolfe was born at Bristol, Ind., October 6, 1848, the son of George and Lyda Wolfe. At the age of six the family moved to Niles, Mich., where his father was a wagon and carriage maker, also operating a small farm.

As a young man Mr. Wolfe was athletic, excelling in running and jumping. He attended the public schools at Niles until his services were needed on the farm and in the shop of his father.

In the spring of 1864, at the age of 16 he enlisted at Niles as a private in Company H, 30th Michigan Regiment. He saw active service in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and his regiment was in Alabama at the close of the war. He was mustered out of service at Detroit, and given his honorable discharge.

Mr. Wolfe had two older brothers who served and died in the Civil war; one, Frank, was killed in action at the Battle of Shiloh, and the other, Ferris, died of disease in a hospital at Nashville, Tenn.

After his return to Niles he then started to work in sawmills, and in a short time became stationary engineer, which work he followed the rest of his life, until his retirement about eight years ago. He

20,000 March In Protest of Higher Duties On Lace

Calias, France, March 28 (AP)—A silent procession of 20,000 marched today in protest of the increased lace duties in the new American tariff measure and to picture to the French nation the seriousness of the threatened industrial crisis.

While this one third of the population marched the other two thirds lined the streets in front of the closed stores and cafes.

The parade was quiet—not a banner was flown, not a shout was heard. And afterward a delegation called upon the American consul to reiterate that there was no thought of hostility toward the United States, but that the demonstration was a simple cry from the heart of a people who were menaced by sudden ruin of their industries. The spokesman said half of the 50,000 persons employed in the lace and allied trades would be out of work if the increases went into effect.

Drug Store Owner Tied Up and Robbed

Detroit, Mar. 28 (AP)—Three men and a young woman late tonight held up a drug store at 4233 Joy Road, tied the proprietor, Lewis Gould, took him to the basement, and escaped with $600 from the cash register and from a branch postoffice which is in the store. Some money order blanks also were taken. The woman was described as pretty and about 22 year old.

BRUENING WILL FORM CABINET

New German Chancellor Will Have No Dealings With Parties

Berlin, March 28 (AP)—Dr. Heinrich Bruening, new chancellor of the Reich, set about today choosing ministers on a personal basis and without dealing with parties in his efforts to form a cabinet succeeding that of Herman Mueller.

That was demonstrated when Dr. Bruening offered the ministry of agriculture to Martin Schiele, a Nationalist leader, who accepted despite the fact that his party earlier declined to participate in the new government and demanded dissolution of the Reichstag and new elections.

The Nationalists decided on their course of opposition even after their fiery leader, Dr. Hugenberg, had been asked by President Von Hindenburg to give up opposition at this point for the country's welfare.

The president also instructed the new chancellor to forget party pettifogging and construct a cabinet which above all could put through the budget and financial reforms. It was after that conference that Dr. Bruening offered the agricultural portfolio to Herr Schiele, who is president of the Federal Farmers federation and stands high in the regard of the agriculturists.

Procedure Method For Tariff Causes Problem In House

Washington, March 28 (AP)—Unable to reach an agreement today of the legislative procedure under which the tariff bill is to be considered by the house next week, Republican leaders again will meet with Speaker Longworth tomorrow in an effort to eliminate differences of the various factions within their ranks.

Ten months after the house sent the measure to the senate, the powerful steering committee held a long session to discuss the demand for a rule that would satisfy the Republicans, particuarly those from western and northwestern agricultural states, who desire separate votes on sugar, lumber, cement and shingles. The steering committee is an unofficial group of house Republicans from various states who determine the legislative program of the house.

ADOPT POLICY GRADUALLY, IS FORBE ADVICE

MINISTER WILL BE ASSIGNED TO REPUBLIC

Washington, March 28 (AP)—President Hoover today adopted as his administrative policy the gradual withdrawal of the United States Marines from Haiti and the substitution of diplomatic relations for the present military commission.

The recommendations of the Forbes commission to this effect, which further suggested recognition of a provisional government, were accepted by the chief executive two months after the appointment of the group to study United States policy in the island republic.

To Assign Minister

With immediate withdrawal of the Marines found inadvisable, the commission recommended gradual withdrawal in accordance with arrangements to be made between the two governments and with the advice of the commandant of the Haitian Garde.

A minsiter would be assigned to Haiti to succeed Major General John H. Russell, American high commissioner at the expiration of his tour of duty. Russell's term is limited by the pleasure of the president, or by the treaty authorizing marine occupation, which lapses in 1936.

Also, under the recommendations, the minister would be charged with negotiating agreements "providing for less intervention in Haitian domestic affairs."

The commission recommended that the detail of naval and marine officers for all Haitian services be made for a minimum of four years. Further, it recommended that "an effort be made to secure Americans who will agree to continue employment in these services, so that upon the expiration of the treaty a force of American doctors, engineers, and police officers will be available for continued assistance to the Haitian government, should it then desire it."

Reduce Customs Duties

Regarding the economic situation, the commission recommended the Haitian government be urged to appropriate for maintenance of existing roads before constructing new ones; and that only roads most urgently needed to develop settled regions under cultivation be undertaken until the present economic depression has passed.

Furthermore, the report urged that the American government interpose no objection to a moderate reduction of the customs duties, internal revenue taxes, especially those imposed upon alcohol and tobacco, or to a reduction or elimination of the export tax on coffee if the treasury condition warrants.

Employment by the Haitian government of one American adviser in each administrative department, with the American government maintaining them as an act of grace, was also recommended.

Immediate construction of a legation building at Port Au Prince was included in the recommendations.

As a sequent step, it was recommended that "in retaining offices now in the Haitian service, or selecting new Americans for employment therein, the utmost care be taken that only those free from strong racial antipathies should be preferred."

Smelt Stampede to Spawning Grounds

Lansing, Mich., March 28 (AP)—The failure of the smelt to postpone their annual run at Beulah until April 1 makes taking them illegal. However, the law can be violated with impunity.

Advised that the stampede to the spawning grounds started this morning, George Hogarth, conservation director, said the fish may be taken with nets. Consedvation officials will supervise the activities of the technical offenders. Steps are being taken to repair before next year the legal provisions which ban taking smelt in Cold creek prior to April 1.

Raskob At Fault, Asserts Daniels

Raleigh, N. C., Mar. 28 (AP)—The Raleigh News and Observer tomorrow will say in an article written by former Secretaryof the Navy Josephus Daniels, publisher of that paper, that:

"John J. Raskob was more interested in destroying prohibition than in the Democratic party and owes it to the party to pay the debt he created against it and resign his connection with the National Democratic executive committee."

SHEPARD HELD FOR MURDER

Investigation Begun in Connection With Death of His First Wife

Denver, March 28 (AP)—Department of justice agent tonight began an investigation into the alleged mysterious death in California seventeen years ago of the first wife of Major Charles A. Shepard, army surgeon accused of poisoning his second spouse at Fort Riley, Kans., last June.

The first Mrs. Shepard is said by her brother, James Childs of Needles, Cal., to have died "under mysterious circumstances while Shepard was enamored of another woman."

Childs, who wrote Sardius M. Brewster, United States district attorney for Kansas, requesting an inquiry into his sister's death, was quoted as saying she was seized with spasms while eating breakfast and died nine days later.

Major Shepard, held in jail here pending action by the federal grand jury in Kansas in connection with the charge that he killed his second wife, vigorously denied there was any mystery in the California death. He refused to go into detail.

Department of justice agents instituted their investigation into the California case at the request of the Kansas district attorney, who said he desired further information relative to Shepard's past in developing the murder accusation in Kansas.

The 59-year-old army officer, a Canadian by birth, married Clara E. Childs, at Lewiston, N. Y., in 1897. Four years after her death in 1913, he married a second time.

The allegation that the first wife died while Shepard was "enamored of another woman" and the history of her fatal illness as reported by her brother, parallel in some respects the alleged circumstances surrounding the death of the second Mrs. Shepard.

Shepard has admitted that before his second wife died he became friendly with Miss Grace Brandon, pretty 23 year old stenographer at Brooks Field, Tex. The murder charge was filed after department of justice agents learned of his interest in the girl.

The investigators, who had worked for months on the case, said that Shepard's infatuation for Miss Brandon supplied a motive for the alleged poisoning. Shepard said he became engaged to the Texas girl eight months after his second wife's death.

$15,000 LOOT

Watertown, Conn., Mar. 28 (AP)—Three unmasked young men today held up the Watertown Trust company, which has its banking rooms in the heart of the town, and escaped with about $15,000 in bills and currency.

About 72 per cent of the population of the South lives on farms.

Racketeer Arrested On Larceny Charge

Detroit, March 28 (AP)—Myron Terry, 26, who brought a hazardous and not very profitable "C. O. D. racket" here from Chicago six months ago, was arrested today and held on a charge of larceny by trick.

According to police Terry had collected $1,050 from 150 persons by delivering packages of old newspapers to business offices and collecting C. O. D. charges from associates of those to whom the parcels were addressed. He had failed in anly 15 attempts to collect, Oscar A. Kaufman, assistant prosecutor said. Kaufman added that eac htransaction was recorded in a notebook found in Terry's possession.

Terry usually collected $8.40, but occasionally dropped as low as $3. His method, victims reported, was to go to an office or business house wtih a package addressed to a person who was out at the time. Some other person in the place would pay the charges.

Accounts of some of Terry's transactions have been published in newspapers, and Mrs. C. L. Tucker, a stenographer in an office used by several physicians, remembered these items when he asked her for $8.40 today. She excused herself and called police. Terry took his package to another office in the same building and was caught red-handed, officers said.

"If he had had a real job he would have made as much money, worked no harder and kept out of jail," was Kaufman's comment after questioning Terry.

Stephenson Denied Temporary Parole

Michigan City, Ind., Mar. 28 (AP)—The pardon board of the Indiana state prison today denied the petition of D. C. Stephenson, life term prisoner, for a ninety-day temporary parole.

Stephenson, convicted of the murder of an Indianapolis girl in 1925, requested the parole so that he might go to California to obtain evidence he said would prove that he did not commit the crime.

In denying the plea of the former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, the board expressed the opinion "that the attempt at this time to assail the character of a woman who is not in position to speak in her defense is an indefensible and unwarranted attack without a single fact worthy of consideration to sustain it."

In asking for the parole, Stephenson's attorney presented an affidavit signed by Dr. Mabel C. Faulds, a former Gary physician, in which she intimated that Miss Madge Oberholtzer, the girl for whose death the former klan leader was held responsible, had submitted to an illegal operation and had died as a result.

COUNSEL HAVE BITTER DEBATE

Jury to Decide Whether Charlotte Fiscal Was Erlanger's Wife

New York, Mar. 28 (AP)—Accompanied by such bitter exchanges by opposing counsel that Surrogate James A. Foley several times protested, an application was submitted in Surrogates court today for a jury trial to determine whether Charlotte Fiscal was the common law wife of Abraham L. Erlanger, theatre magnate, who died on March 7.

Surrogate Foley reserved decision on the matter and also on the submission of an affidavit by the woman's attorney, Max D. Steuer, in which she said that on November 3, 1927, in Atlantic City, N. J., Erlanger told her that if there was an doubt about her status of wife, he wished to remove it at once.

Thereupon, the affidavit said, she put her arms around him and siad: "You are my husband," and he replied: "You are my wife."

Seeks Widow's Share

This was three weeks after the drafting of the will in which Erlanger said he was unmarried. Miss Fiscal was not mentioned in it and she now is seeking a widow's share in the estimated $75,000,000 estate.

"If that marriage actually took place in New Jersey as she claims," Steuer said, "she, of course, became the wife of Abraham L. Erlanger and accordingly became his widow on his demise; and this relationship revoked the will."

Counsel for the beneficiaries protested that this was an attempt to make "a bilateral marriage out of a unilateral one."

Steuer contends that Miss Fiscal lived with Mr. Erlanger as his wife from 1920 until his death.

Counsel for the beneficiaries demanded a bill of particulars relating to the time, place and circumstances of the alleged marriage. Steuer was given until April 2 to erply.

Free Two Suspects In Kidnaping Case

Detroit, Mar. 28 (AP)—Two men held as suspects in the kidnaping of Mrs. Elsie Mills, 25, were released today after she told police they are not the men who bound her to her automobile with adhesive tape and forced her to drive to Bad Axé Wednesday night.

Before being taken to headquarters to view the two suspects, Jacon and Ervin Ogden of Carsonville, Mich., Mrs. Mills told of an attack by a man who forced his way into her home early this morning. She said that the man attempted to choke her, but fled after her daughter, Eileen, in another room, screamed.

The kidnaping, Mrs. Mills said, followed receipt of two anonymous notes dealing with a civil suit for a small amount against her and her husband, Arthur.

Harriman, Tenn., March 28 (AP) Charles B. Gray, a mechanical engineer and inventor, of Millbourne, a suburb, today filed suit in federad court seeking $1,500,000 damages from the Eastman Kodak company for alleged infringement of a patent.

Gray contends the Eastman company infringed on his patent for a "power transmitting mechanism relative to camera shutters." He avers he was granted a patent on the device in 1919.

The Eastman Stores, Inc., of Philadelphia, a subsidiary of the Eastman company, is also named as defendant in the suit.

Mother Murders Three Children; Takes Own Life

Philadelphia, Mar. 28 (AP)—Because she was "in trouble," a 28-year-old mother hanged herself in her log cabin home and drowned or smothered to death her three young sons some time last night at D'Armond, a hamlet near here. John Hendrix, chief of police of Harriman, said today.

Hendrix said the mother, Mrs. Dorothy Welsh, left a note ardressed to an aunt, Lizzie Hammond, saying she was "in trouble" and asking her aunt to forgive her for her act. Mrs. Welsh's husband, Sherman Welsh, left this section recently to find work in railroad yards in Cincinnati. Hendrix said his investigation indicated that Mr. and Mrs. Welsh were on good terms and that the husband recently had sent money for the support of his wife and their three children, Freddie, 8, Edgar, 7, and Sherman 5.

Relatives today found the body of Mrs. Welsh hanging from a rafter in the kitchen of her little house at D'Armond, and recovered the bodies of the three children in a pond near the home. The body of each child was wrapped in blankets, tied at each end.

Prehistoric Relics Faked

Supposed prehistoric relics "unearthed" at Glozel, France, are fakes, according to the police identification expert who has been spending a year in scientific study of the exhibits. Thousands of experiments which he made with the "relics," his report said proved that they were not more than five years old, and some had been in the earth only a short time. He also found indications that the slabs had been covered with varnish, corresponding to that on the woodwork of the farmhouse near where they were discovered.

The Netherlands now have 8,000,000 population, according to a recent estimate.

Study Club Fire To Be Investigated By City of Detroit

Detroit, Mar. 28 (AP)—The Study Club fire in which 22 men and women lost their lives last September was made the subject of a municipal investigation today.

Mayor Charles Bowles placed the investigation in the hands of Clarence E. Brewer, commissioner of recreation.

Martin Cohn, proprietor of the club, was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the fire by a Recorder's court jury yesterday. The state claimed Cohn had been criminally negligent in the matter of safety facilities at the club.

The defense pleaded that the responsibility should rest with the city officials who inspected the club and allowed Cohn to operate the place as a cabaret. This is the phase of the matter toward which the mayor's investigation will be directed.

Probe Educational Inequalities, Is Cameron's Advice

Lansing, Mich., March 28 (AP)—A recommendation that the state commission of inquiry into taxation make a special study of the so-called inequalities of educational opportunities was made today in the annual report of E. T. Cameron, executive secretary of the Michigan Education association, before delegates to the representative assembly of the organization.

Cameron characterized the Turner school law "as a step in the right direction," but declared the problem still unsolved. In proposing a legislative bill to make the county unit of education, Cameron said that the larger size of the unit would help to relieve the inequalities.

The secretary's report showed that membership in the M. E. A. has increased from 29,548 in 1927-28 to 31,961 in 1929-30.

Two Ships Grounded On Pacific Coast

San Francisco, Mar. 28 (AP)—Two ships went ashore tonight, the steam schooner Claremont grounding inside the harbor entrance, and the tanker Rhine Maru piling up at Point Sur, about 100 miles south of here.

The Rhine Maru is a steel vessel of 6,157 tons, 405 feet long, with beam of 53 feet and depth of 37 feet. She was built by the Kawasaki Drydock Co., Ltd., at Kobe, in 1922. The builders are listed in Lloyds register as the owners of the ship.

worked in lumber mills at Muskegon, Whithall, Big Rapids and other lumber towns in the lower peninsula until 1888.

On August 28, 1873, Mr. Wolfe was married to Miss Dorcas Heath, at Grand Junction, Mich. There have been born to this marriage, three sons, Gordon Wolfe of Cooks, Frank of Rapid River, and William, deceased, and one daughter, Mrs. R. C. Young of Rapid River.

In 1888 Mr. Wolfe and his family moved to Masonville where he was employed as mill engineer for the firm of Bridges, Snell & Co. He also served in that capacity for the Jerry Madden Shingle company, Naugle & Holcomb company, and other mill concerns at Masonville and Rapid River.

In 1902, Mr. Wolfe became nightwatch and engineer of the fire department, serving faithfully until about eight years ago. Since that time he has lived in retirement. His wife passed away in 1921. He had always been a good citizen and neighbor, always honored and respected as a loyal and faithful servant in peace as well as in the service of his country.

"Whether knowingly or unwittingly, the government has broken faith with the upper basin states. By a stroke of the pen the secretary has destroyed a beneficient compromise that was reached after many weary months of effort to his term of office, and that constituted an enlightened program of cooperation among all the states in the Colorado river drainage.

"The only way to rectify the damage done by the secretary's action, in case it is sustained by congress, is by means of direct appropriations for additional projects in the upper basin. The Flaming Gorge and Dewey projects would benefit Utah, Wyoming and Colorado just as the Boulder Dam will benefit California, Nevada and Arizona. Equity and justice demand that the United States build one or both of these projects concurrently with the construction of the Boulder Dam. The government, should have no stepchildren."

INDIAN WOMAN IS WITNESS AT MURDER TRIAL

he and his wife came there to the house they stopped and he came to the house and he mentioned something about that he didn't care if his wife didn't live and, that there was another party there at the time heard this. . . . He didn't care if his wife was out of the way. Then he saw the other party and went out of the way."

This was what the interpreter told the jury and John S. Kniblo of defense counsel, who was cross examining the state's witness.

After the aged squaw's testimony the prosecution rested its case.

Marchand again appeared on the stand today to undergo the questioning of John V. Maloney of defense counsel. He came to tell once more of his relations with the 35 year old defendant only as a "professional necessity," by which he said he meant the plan he used to overcome the native disinclination of Indian women to pose for his museum figures.

He had lied, "Oh, yes," he said.

He had lied about love to Lila to bend her to his will. The defense attorneys accused him of moulding the Indian woman's will as he had moulded her figure and the French sculptor mildly agreed to the statement.

There was one other element in his relations with Lila, he said, and managed to get it on the record of the court today only by repetition and outshouting the defense attorneys. The other element, he said, was compassion, pity for a woman with tuberculosis, whose physicians had told her she would live, even in the woodland air of the reservation, not more than a year.

TWO EMPLOYES RETIRE APRIL 1

Escanaba Men Included On List of 15 to Be Pensioned

Two employees of the Chicago & North Western railway, with service records totaling almost seventy-eight years, will retire April 1.

John Clifford, locomotive engineer, living at 704 South Fourteenth street, has been an engineman around Escanaba since 1884, and has spent 42 years and 7 months in North Western service.

Otto S. Johnson, conductor, living at 1408 First avenue north, has been a trainman around Escanaba for 35 years.

Thirteen other employes of the railroad are being retired April 1, ten of them having served more than 40 years each.

Mr. Clifford entered the employ of the C. & N. W. as a locomotive fireman May 8, 1884, and was promoted to locomotive engineer April 18, 1890. He held the run known as time freight 187 and 280, running between Green Bay and Escanaba, for the last 20 years, and has reached his seventieth year.

Mr. Johnson began with the road as an ore dock laborer in 1889, and worked in that capacity until 1895. In that year he began as a brakeman on the peninsula division and on the Galena division out of Chicago. On March 15, 1900 he started regularly as a brakeman, and was advanced to conductor, April 21, 1907. He became disabled by illness October 28, 1929, and is being pensioned for disability.

Charles Heinereinger, agent at the Menominee depot, will be pensioned at the same time, having reached the age limit. He is well known in Escanaba.

Pubilc Warned On Fake Antiseptics

"The clean up campaign against fake antiseptics has been so effective that today the statements appearing on the labels of most preparations of this kind in interstate and import commerce are reasonably accurate," says drug control officials of the food, drug, and insecticide administrations, U. S. department of agriculture.

The public is warned, however, to discriminate between the labeling upon the package itself and the advertising in circulars, posters, periodicals, billboards, and the like. The federal food and drugs act does not control such advertising and some manufacturers are taking advantage of this situation to disseminate the crudest sort of misinformation regarding their products.

Constant surveillance is kept over the labels of the new crop of antiseptics by the department to catch any fake or misbranded preparation as soon as it appears. Users of these preparations are told not to expect miraculous effects from the use of any antiseptic, such as a mouth wash, the chief result of which is a pleasant taste. Such a preparation remaining in contact with the tissues but a brief period does not destroy all germ life in the mouth, nor does it have any influence during the remaining hours of the day.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

Where the late Harry Houdini left off in the campaign to expose quackery in the practice of spiritualism, Evelyn Brent begins and carries on in her first starring picture, "Darkened Rooms" all-talking picture which is showing at the Delft Theatre.

In "Darkened Rooms" which is based on a very popular novel by Sir Philip Gibbs, Miss Brent plays the chorus girl who is inveigled into a job as a "medium" by Neil Hamilton, practitioner of the art of applied fake mystery. Her love for the handsome Neil incites Miss Brent to drastic measures for reforming him. By a cleverly staged mystery exhibition of her own she manages to bring Hamilton to his senses. The picture affords many tense moments and many breath-taking thrills. A beautiful thread of romance is woven into the plot and there is a plentiful sprinkling of clever comedy dialog.

Miss Brent was raised to stardom by Paramount after several all-talking successes as a featured player. Among them are "Interference," "Fast Company," and "Woman Trap."

In the supporting cast headed by Hamilton are Doris Hill, who was seen with him in "The Studio Murder Mystery," David Newell, E. H. Calvert and Gale Henry.

AT THE STRAND.

She pretended to help him rob the safe, but what she really wanted was to make him fall in love with her. And that was the beginning of his downfall—for he confessed to the murder of her father and thus enabled her to save her lover who was accused of the crime. That's a brief story of the picture, "Back to Liberty," which is being shown at the Strand theatre today. Three gentlemen crooks, who ran a metropolitan crime syndicate fell out among themselves—and then the story becomes more exciting than when they were working together.

U. P. Cities Ideal For Conventions, Says H. P. Lindsay

Among the interested visitors at the 3rd annual Tri-State conference in Ironwood, March 20, was Harold P. Lindsay, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

"The success of this meeting proves the ability of the upper peninsula communities to put over convention gatherings on an adequate scale," said Mr. Lindsay. "Ironwood and our upper peninsula cities are really the best possible locations for large meetings of this kind.

"In one of the larger cities of the country the Tri-State congress would be just another meeting. In communities of approximately Ironwood's population, where everybody knows everybody, all hands get behind the affair and a successful outcome is inevitable.

"I understand that this is by far the best and largest Tri-State meet, the former ones having been held in Duluth and Superior. Allowing for the growth of the organization during the past year, it is still evident that Ironwood not only has the facilities for taking care of a crowd, but that its civic spirit is amply capable of rising to the occasion and giving Tri-State a new experience. The same is true of other upper peninsula communities of approximately the same size."

Mr. Olds gives the results of a test survey which showed that the average participant in a two mile run lost one and one half pounds, as compared with three and a half to five pounds lost by boys engaging in one basketball game.

—EDITORIAL—

DELAND IN RACE

CHARLES J. DELAND, of Detroit, is the first candidate to actually enter the race for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan at the primary election this fall. Luren D. Dickinson, lieutenant governor, of Charlotte, has announced that he is willing to be convinced that he should become a candidate, but he has not yet formally shied his hat into the ring.

Mr. Deland is a former secretary of state of Michigan and member of the last legislature from a Detroit district. His activity in the legislature was almost exclusively negative--he was "agin" the government on practically every roll call of the session. His was, apparently, a carefully planned and studied program, based upon his intent to become a candidate for governor in the primary election of this year. It can, therefore, be expected that he will conduct his campaign for the nomination along the same lines that governed his record in the legislature.

It must be admitted, however, that Charley Deland is a smart politician, who knows Michigan about as well as any other individual. Evidence of the "smartness" of his political mind was recently given when he issued an interview in Detroit newspapers claiming credit for the signing of the Turner bill. It was an unusual spectacle to find a Detroit politician proclaiming the benefits of a measure the board of education of the city of Detroit attacked, when presented in another form, and succeeded in having declared unconstitutional. But Charlie Deland recognized the fact that the people of Michigan have become definitely convinced that financial aid is necessary for the poorer school districts of the state and he was not slow to capitalize what he claimed to be his part in bringing about such legislation.

In other words Charlie Deland is a "smart" politician.

OPEN AIR ROOMS

DETROIT'S experience with open air school rooms will give a good idea of what benefits will be derived by underweight and physically handicapped children of Escanaba when the junior high school building will be completed for use in the fall of 1931.

An open air class is now being conducted in the Washington Annex building with beneficial results. But because of the lack of facilities, only about a dozen children can be accommodated while there are a couple dozen more boys and girls in the city who would secure improvement in health if they could be transferred there. They will, however, be taken care of when the new school is erected.

The first open air school in Detroit was organized in 1912 through the efforts of the Detroit Tuberculosis and Health society, with the cooperation of the board of health and the board of education. During the past year, 772 boys and 993 girls have been enrolled. Of this number, 513 were discharged as improved and 14 were sent to one of the school hospitals. A total of 490 of the pupils discharged were able to enter the regular school. Detroit now has 12 regular open air schools and two hospital schools.

Like has been done in Escanaba the schools in Detroit have been very successful in building up the physical condition of the pupils and training them in health habits that will be beneficial to them throughout life. The weights of the pupils are carefully recorded and strict attention is paid to the diet of the children. Physical defects like diseased tonsils, bad teeth, weak eyes and adenoids are detected, and correction is effected through the interest and cooperation of the parents.

ROMANCE

ROMANCE that was stranger than fiction came clattering over the newspaper telegraph wires at edition time the other day. Dispatches from far-off Austria brought the news that Dr. Ernest Watzl and his pretty secretary with whom he had eloped had been found dead in a Vienna hotel, victims of a suicide pact.

The "plot" was one that would drive an author or a movie scenario writer into ecstacies . . . Dr. Ernest Watzl, prominent Cleveland, Ohio, chemist, artist and clubman. . . disappeared mysteriously last fall on business trip to Philadelphia . . . his wrecked and burned auto found in rural Pennsylvania, footprints leading therefrom to a nearby river . . . several thousand dollars in his pocket, theories of robbery and murder . . . mystery, oblivion . . . and then evidence hinting that Dr. Watzl still lived.

Next, the subsequent and equally mysterious disappearance of Dr. Watzl's pretty young secretary and art model . . . and she was married, too, leaving a husband's suit for divorce.

Months, and no trace of either of them . . . hints that they were in South America . . . where they could be alone together . . . strange rumors that both were dead . . . mystery seemingly impenetrable, utterly baffling.

And then the discovery of two bodies in a Vienna hotel . . . . a middle-aged man and a pretty girl . . . bullets from an Austrian army revolver through the hearts of each . . . notes left behind to identify them, letters explaining the futility of their ill-starred romance to their friends back home.

Dead in each other's arms, four thousand miles from home . . . a climax to a tragic adventure in defiance of convention.

This story was its own editorial. It needed no embellishment to present a conclusion or point a moral. Such was already there.

Dr. Watzl and this girl fled 4000 miles to be alone. They wanted to be free, to get away from others.

They did get away from others, yes—but they found a far more vigilant companion hounded them wherever they went. They could not get away from themselves.

After all, conscience is the most relentless of our tormentors —and remorse the most cruel of all tyrants.

We can flee from others. But we cannot escape living with ourselves.

HINDENBURG'S GREATNESS

TWELVE years ago it would have been hard to find anyone in the United States who would say a good word for the German, Paul Von Hindenburg.

Today, however, Germany's grand old man seems to be demonstrating his greatness in a way that makes us glad to forget our war-time hatreds.

As president of Germany, Von Hindenburg recently signed the Young plan, against the advice of thousands of indignant Germans. Signing it, he made this remark:

"During my entire life I have served in the school of duty, and I have learned to do my duty for the fatherland without consideration for my person. Therefore any thought my person had was abondoned in this decision, and I gave up any idea of relieving myself of the responsibility by a plebiscite or resignation."

If we should come to rely on water power, the richest continents would be Asia, Africa and South America.

Anniversary

JOHN TYLER'S BIRTH.

On March 29, 1790, John Tyler, tenth president of the United States, was born at Greenway, Va., the son of Judge John Tyler, who was governor of Virginia and a judge of state and federal courts.

Young Tyler was graduated from William and Mary College at the age of 17 and two years later was admitted to the bar. After serving several terms in the Virginia legislature and in Congress, Tyler was elected governor of Virginia. At the close of his second term he was elected to the United States Senate.

As a leading member of the Whig party Tyler ran for vice president in 1836 but was defeated. Four years later he was elected vice president with General W. H. Harrison, and, when Harrison died after a month in office, assumed the presidency. Tyler, as president, broke off completely with the party that had elected him. As a result, all the members of his cabinet, except Webster, who was engaged in diplomatic duties, resigned. A year later Webster followed.

One of the most important events of Tyler's administration was the annexation of Texas.

MURDER BACKSTAIRS

(By NEA Service)

By ANNE AUSTIN

CHAPTER XXIV

"Whew! I thought those reporters would tear my uniform off me!" Captain Strawn grunted disgustedly, as he let himself into the library, where Dundee and Arnold, the chauffeur, were awaiting him. "Seemed to think I could pull a murderer out of my sleeve, like a magician's rabbit. I told 'em just enough to keep 'em from blackjacking me, and they're hot-footing it for their city rooms now . . . Well, what have you got on your chest, Arnold? You've been giving a lot of trouble, my boys tell me."

The red-headed young chauffeur, who had been a huddled heap of misery, sprang from his chair and turned wild, tear-reddened eyes on the chief of the homicide squad.

"Why didn't you tell me my poor girl was dead—murdered?" he demanded hoarsely. "God knows I had a right to be told first, not kept stewing in agony in that damned sitting room backstairs wondering what had happened, believing terrible things against her!"

"Well, you know now!" Strawn jerked him up roughly. "What have you got to tell us?"

"That I saw her murderer, sneaking out of these grounds last night!" Arnold shouted, his whole body quivering.

"Wait—a—minute!" Strawn ordered sternly. "How do you know he was her murderer? If it was a he—"

"It was a man, all right! Or a beast wearing trousers!" Arnold interrupted violently.

"Keep your shirt on! . . . Now begin at the beginning and tell exactly what you know."

"I had a date to meet Doris at the summerhouse last night," Arnold began jerkily. "We were engaged to be married. Wickett, the butler, had been trying to make things easy for us, and it was him that gave Doris permission to see me for awhile last night. I was to watch for her from my room over the garage, because she didn't know exactly when she'd be free—"

"When was this date made?" Dundee interrupted the chauffeur and his own rapid notes.

"While we—all the servants, I mean—were eating our dinner in our own sitting room," Arnold explained impatiently. "Our dinner is from six to half-past, an hour before the family dines."

"Then all of the servants heard you make the date?"

"Sure! They all knew we were engaged. We asked Wickett then and there, and he said it would be all right, but he cautioned Doris to put the chain on the back door lock when she came in."

"Did she have a key?"

"Yes, because Wickett lent her his. Ordinarily, when any of the servants are out after Wickett has gone to bed, they have to ring the back door bell, which connects with his room. But he—he trusted Doris, and gave her his key."

Strawn and Dundee exchanged glances. No key had been found on the girl's body or in the pocket of her apron.

"All right. Get along with your story," Strawn ordered.

"Well, I'd been told that I wouldn't be needed during the evening, but at about a quarter to 11 the phone in my room rang. It's an extension of the house phone. It was Wickett, saying that the Benjamin Smiths wanted me to drive them home to Westview. I was pretty sore—they're always mooching our car, to save gasoline—and when Wickett told me that he'd heard Dick Berkeley bully Doris into saying she'd meet him—well, I was ready to throw up my job right then, but I thought I'd better stick around as long as Doris was here, to protect her." And he dropped his head on his arm and sobbed.

"So Wickett told you, did he?" Strawn repeated thoughtfully. "Well, pull yourself together, boy. . . What's next?"

"I took time to write Doris a note, when I couldn't reach her on the house phone. I begged her, if she loved me, not to leave the house last night. You see, I didn't think she would meet Dick Berkeley, but I did fear she might figure how long it would take me to make the trip to Westview, and try to see me when I got back. I didn't want her to do that, sir, for fear that Berkeley puppy would be laying for her."

"And you gave the note to Wickett, to give to Doris?"

"Yes. When I brought the car around for him to announce. He said Doris had gone up to her room to write to her sister in England. He said he'd give it to her, but she never got it! If she had— Oh, my God!"

"How do you know she didn't get the note?" Strawn pounced.

"Here it is," Arnold answered, his voice dull and flat with grief. "Della, the upstairs maid, had it all the time. She gave it to me not more than 10 minutes ago, right after the reporter asked us what we knew about 'the lady's maid murder,'" he quoted bitterly.

MEALTIME

A colored boy comes through the train
    With "dinner in the dining car".
Oh, well, we have to eat, that's plain.
    I wonder how the oysters are?
There's something missing, after all,
    From that familiar information:
It is another supper call,
    A mother's evening invitation.

She had no silver such as this,
    So many forks and spoons and knives,
Yet there is something that we miss
    When day is done, when night arrives.
We should be glad the time is near
    To eat, and glad that we are able;
And yet just once I'd like to hear,
    "Come, children, supper's on the table."

I wish—but what's the use of that?
    Those childhood days are done and through:
"Go put away that ball and bat,
    And wash your hands, and hurry, too."
And yet I wish just once, somehow,
    I heard, the mealtime indicating,
"Get ready, children, hurry now—
    And tell your father supper's waiting."

Health Tips

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN.

The human body apparently uses very small amounts of many metallic substances in the control of various factors within it. For years it has been known that iron is of value in anemia.

As the newer knowledge has become established definitely the place of iron in the diet, it has become realized that there are two factors concerned: first, the iron; second, the mineral elements with which the iron may be associated.

In their most recent studies of anemia following hemorrhage, Drs. G. H. Whipple and F. S. Robscheit-Robbins point out there is an optimum amount of iron which can be taken by mouth to control anemia. This amount is about 40 milligrams per day. There are 30 grams in an ounce. Thus, there are 30,000 milligrams in an ounce.

Forty milligrams represents the amount of iron to be taken per day which is about 1-800 of an ounce. The entire amount of iron in the circulation is about 220 milligrams. If 10 milligrams are wasted daily by means of used up red blood cells, the amount supplied in 40 milligrams is well beyond the complete wastage.

It must be remembered that the figure of 40 milligrams is in the case of a dog weighing 10 kilograms, and that an adult human being weighs about 70 kilograms. Thus for an adult human being, the amount would be 280 milligrams, which is about 1-100 of an ounce.

Iron seems to be the most potent metal substance in rebuilding blood after hemorrhage and apparently the excess amount of iron given over the amount lost has an effect on organs which build red blood cells.

In addition to iron, manganese and copper seem to affect the blood production. Zinc, aluminum, antimony, potassium, calcium phosphate and sodium iodide seem to have but little effect.

Of particular value in building blood after anemia produced by bleeding were liver sausage, blood sausage and to some extent large amounts of gelatine. Egg yolk and egg white seem to be of relatively less value. Obviously, there are factors beside iron which are important in blood regeneration.

When spinach and cabbage were added to the diet they had a stimulating effect, but not nearly so great as that of spinach and cabbage with extra iron, so that it has seemed to the investigators that probably the iron is not the only substance in the spinach that might be of value. Onions and orange juice were found to be of little value for the purpose.

It has not seemed to the investigators that the vitamins are in any way concerned with the building of fresh red blood coloring matter in blood cells after anemia.

Sun and Wind to Rout Ice Fields

Continued warm weather and favorable winds are expected to make inroads on the Bay de Noc ice fields within a short time. Last year, a storm on March 31 broke up the ice on the south shore and open water was reported in the bay April 6.

Although some steamship companies may attempt to force passage through earlier, navigation on the St. Mary's river at the Soo will open about the middle of April, according to Isaac DeYoung, general superintendent of the St. Mary's Falls canal. Last year, navigation opened on April 13.

Repair work at the locks is being rushed, so that it will be completed for the opening of navigation.

For riding her horse on a footpath at Sherston, England, Lady Blance Minnie Scott Douglas, daughter of the ninth Duke of Beaufort, and a society leader, was recently haled into court and fined 25 cents.

Iron and Steel Business Outlook Is Much Brighter

Cleveland, Mar. 28—Moderate expansion in sales of pig iron and specifications for finished steel, improved sentiment in the automotive industry, and approach of the season when outdoor work is resumed in the northern states brighten the outlook in iron and steel perceptibly this week, says Iron Trade Review, Cleveland.

The fact that production of steel is not giving further ground, holding at about 74 per cent, is regarded as encouraging. Producers and consumers alike continue cautious and are modest in their expectations, but the feeling is widespread that both production and demand have turned the corner and may be expected to improve slightly over the next few weeks.

Most automotive manufacturers have adopted heavier schedules for April and a few have specified accordingly, resulting in heavier output of high-finished sheets this week. Actual building steel awards have fallen off, but specifications against recent lettings are brisk. Plate demand at Chicago is sufficient to provide plate mills a small backlog. In strip and wire, bookings are not shrinking further, also a good omen.

The price situation in pig iron and semi-finished steel appears fairly firm, but in scrap further weakness has developed and in the finished steel lines some concessions are noted. Flat-rolled steel producers' quotations for April delivery to the automotive industry are on a par with the low levels of the first quarter. While 1.85c, Pittsburgh, is the basis for most transactions in bars, plates and shapes, 1.80c shows a tendency to be designated more freely.

March freight car orders, estimated at 5,200, bring the first quarter total to about 27,100, contrasted with 41,163 in the first quarter of 1929 and 27,358 in the opening quarter of 1928. However, if late November and December buying be considered, the 1930 movement has equalled that of 1929.

Ford Motor company is expected to close this week on its inquiry for 330,000 tons of iron ore, opening the Lake Superior market for 1930 earlier than expected. Last year's prices are understood to have been quoted by some producers.

Steelworks operations at Buffalo advanced this week from 71 per cent to 74, and at Cleveland from 68 per cent of 76. Pittsbuirgh continues to hold at about 75 per cent, and Chicago at 90 to 95 per cent. Some independents in the Youngstown district are on lower schedules, but the valley as a whole still averages 65 per cent. Steel corporation subsidiaries continue at 80 per cent for the third consecutive week. Independent mills are at 66 per cent, a drop of two points, giving the industry an average of 73 to 74 per cent, about the same as last week.

The fourth decline this month in the Iron Trade Review composite of 14 leading iron and steel products drops this index to $34.85, compared with $34.89 last week and gives March an average of $34.95, compared with $35.24 for February and $36.42 last March.

Five flying fire boats have been ordered by the Canadian Department of National Defense for fighting forest fires.

Schools Are Crowded

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Crowded conditions in the Iron Mountain high school, with indications for little change in the enrollment for 1930-31, may occasion drastic changes in class arrangements next year, with the possibility that the ninth grade will be transferred to the Hulst Junior high school building, according to the situation lined today by W. J. Cudlip, president of the board.

M. B. Travis, superintendent, who is in Lansing this week attending an educational conference, has, Mr. Cudlip said, a plan of re-arrangement which will be submitted to the board.

Plan Big Tabernacle

Iron River, Mich.—Plans for a big tabernacle at Covenant Point at Hagerman lake by the Swedish Mission churches in the upper peninsula are well underway, and construction will be in progress as soon as good weather arrives.

The tabernacle will have seating capacity for between 800 and 1,000 persons, and will cost approximately $3,000. It will be 40 feet wide, and 80 or 90 feet deep, depending on the funds available for the project.

The money is being raised through the mission congregation in the upper peninsula, and by public subscription. The local committee, composed of J. E. Lindwall, Harold Lindahl and Fritz Erickson, is now engaged in calling on business establishments for donations. Approximately $1,500 has already been collected, the committee stated yesterday.

Carriers Launched

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—The two new steamers which are to be added to the Pittsburgh steamship fleet this season have been launched and are now being commissioned for the opening of navigation.

The Thomas W. Lamont was launched early this week at the Toledo shipbuilding yards while the Eugene P. Thomas was launched March 8 at the River Rouge yards of the Great Lakes Engineering company.

Rev. Westphal Ousted

Menominee, Mich.—Declaring the action of the faction supporting Rev. H. C. Westphal in the differences arising in the congregation of the German Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church of Marinette, was illegal, Circuit Judge Henry Graass of Green Bay, in a decision handed down today ousts the minister and holds that the congregation still is a member of the Wisconsin synod.

"As the proof now stands," the decision concludes, "the minister must come from a synod that is admitted or recognized by the Synodical Conference. The defendant, Westphal's, own election to join another synod, and his withdrawal from the Wisconsin synod, makes it impossible for him to longer serve this congregation as its minister while it is still a member of the Wisconsin synod."

Will Pave Highway

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—US-2, federal aid highway which on its easterly leg across the United States terminates at Sault Ste. Marie, will positively be a solid ribbon of concrete between Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace by 1932, it was promised here by Frank D. Fitzgerald, business manager of the highway department, speaking at a meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Buys Postoffice Site

Ironwood, Mich.—Notice that the North Western park property has been accepted by the government as a site for the federal building was contained in a telegram today to Dow I. Sears, city manager, from T. W. Sherwood, executive officer in Washington. The telegram said:

"On twenty-fifth instant department selected property located at Suffolk, Ayer and Lowell streets as site for postoffice at Ironwood, Mich."

Fumes of Ammonia Fill Up Warehouse

A break in one of the ammonia pipes used in the refrigerating plant of the Swift and company warehouse, 710 Stephenson avenue, called out the Escanaba fire department at 10:40 a. m. Friday. Harvey Pariseau, employe of the company, was nearly overcome by ammonia fumes, but after restorative measures were applied by the firemen he donned a gas mask and returned to the interior of the building to shut off the supply.

THOUSANDS of America's leading business men go to a physician for a physical examination four times each year. They know that disease can easily be checked in the early stages.

MOTORISTS who get the most out of their cars take them regularly to an authorized dealer for an inspection. Slight defects thus found and corrected avoid heavy repair bills later.

BUT—the business man avoids the "quack" doctor—and the wise motorist avoids "the nearest garage." Both go to men who "know their stuff."

BRING your car to us for examination or service—we are factory authorized and equipped. Take no chances. Play safe.

Programs Given At Meetings of Pasteur Chapters

The Lily Chapter and the Rose Chapter of the Pasteur club of St. Joseph's high school both held meetings Thursday with interesting programs at both gatherings.

The Lily Chapter meeting was held in the Sophomore class room in the morning at 11 o'clock.

The business meeting opened with routine matters followed by the judging of posters by members and awarding of credits for them. Reports were also made on the various projects taken up by members to gain credits, such as the collection of different kinds of mosses, barks, woods and flowers, which were placed on exhibition; the planting of various kinds of seed in window boxes and other containers, and the securing of pamphlets and papers concerning the planting of seeds.

Following the business meeting an interesting program was given by the appointed committee of which Grace Bennett was chairman.

The program included:

Explanation of "Hard and Soft Water"—Mae Sauers.

Garden Notes—Marion Frederickson.

"Present Forest Conditions"—Vern Beitzer.

Cause of Fire—Gordon Sullivan.

The next meeting of the Lily Chapter will be held at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, April 3.

Rose Chapter

The weekly meeting of the Rose Chapter was held Thursday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock, with the reading of the roll call and the minutes of the last meeting by Alta Brotherton, secretary.

The forester posters were carefully inspected and given credit points according to their workmanship.

The committee under the leadership of Isadore Clairmont, gave the following interesting and instructive program:

Botany—Edward LeClaire.

"Flowers," poem—June Gardipee.

"Budding"—Ruth Fillion.

"Budding Time," poem—Marianne Corcoran.

The Potato Situation—Grant Larson.

"War of the Roses"—Catherine Morin.

"Success With Your Garden"—Isadore Clairmont.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, April 3, at which further business of the club will be planned.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

A hearty and delicious spring soup is found in the following recipe.

Very often, when vegetables are served in great variety, a vegetable cream soup is not wanted in the menu and a meat broth fails to give the required number of calories and nourishment.

This soup is ideal to serve when meat is "off the menu," for it is very satisfying and provides many nutriments. Either stock or milk or a combination of stock and milk can be used. While the stock gives flavor, it furnishes little nourishment. All milk gives the maximum of nourishment. The combination of milk and stock sacrifices some nourishment for flavor. This is justifiable, since one of the missions of a soup is to whet the appetite.

When the soup is made with half milk and half stock, the total number of calories amounts to 952 with 125 calories of protein. This makes one cup of the soup or one large serving equal in food value to a very small serving of swiss steak.

Cornmeal Soup.

Three tablespoons butter, ½ cup minced onion, ½ cup shredded sweet green pepper, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 2 cups veal or chicken stock, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons cornmeal, ½ cup grated cheese.

Melt butter in soup kettle and add onion and pepper. Stir and cook until onion is a light brown. Add seasoning, stock and milk. Add cornmeal and stir hard until mixture boils. Stir flour to a smooth paste with a little cold milk, adding hot soup slowly until mixture pours readily. Add to soup, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and cook 15 minutes. When ready to serve, sprinkle grated cheese over top of each bowl.

Display of Club Draws Attention Of Many Parents

An interesting and unusual display of work by the Pasteur Club of St. Joseph's high school, attracted many visitors following the Parent-Teacher association meeting Thursday evening.

The display consisting of posters, projects and notebook work, won much favorable comment, and appreciation of the interest taken was expressed yesterday by the members of the Sophomore class who make up the membership of the two chapters of the club.

The display was of work done by both the Lily and Rose chapters. It was held in the Sophomore home rooms.

A Favorite Recipe

A butterscotch pie which is delicious is that made according to the recipe of Mrs. Judd Yelland. Mrs. Yelland's recipe, which you will surely want to clip or copy as the case may be, is as follows:

Butterscotch Pie

One cup brown sugar.

Three egg yolks.

One tablespoonful flour.

One cup sweet milk.

One good sized lump of butter (about the size of an egg).

Melt butter, add sugar, eggs and flour. Beat well and add milk. Cook all in a double boiler.

Bake the pastry first in an inverted pan. Fill with the butterscotch mixture.

Cover with meringue which is made as follows: Beat the egg whites until stiff and add three tablespoonful of sugar and a few drops of vanila.

Spread the meringue over the butterscotch and brown slightly in a slow oven.

Unusual Bridge Hands

BY WM. E. McKENNEY
Tournament Manager, American Bridge League

In the greater percentage of hands it pays for the declarer to lead trump, but today's hand is an exception to that rule and is a good example of a cross-ruffing hand.

C—8-6-3-2

The Bidding

South, the dealer, passed. West, holding six spades, should pass. The hand does not contain two high card tricks defensively. It is better to pass the hand and back in afterwards with the spade bid.

North bid one heart, East passed, South passed, and now West bid one spade, North doubled, which was an informatory double asking his partner for a bid. East would be justified in jumping the bid to two spades, hoping to shut out a bid by South, but the East player in today's hand passed.

South then bid two diamonds. West, due to a singleton diamond, now went to two spades, North bid three diamonds, East three spades, South gladly passed, West passed, and North went to four diamonds. East, now hoping to make a sacrifice bid, went to four spades, South passed, West passed and to South's dismay, North went to five diamonds. East did not double as his partner had passed originally and he knows he cannot count him for two defensive tricks. South passed, and West passed.

The Play

West's opening lead was the ace of spades which was trumped in the dummy with the ace of diamonds so as to create re-entries in the dummy in case they were needed. East followed with the deuce of spades and declarer played the six. Declarer's next lead was the deuce of diamonds from dummy, East played the four, declarer the eight and West the three. Declarer now leads the nine of hearts, West played the ten, the queen was finissed from dummy and held the trick, East following with the four.

The ace of hearts was then led from dummy, East playing the three, declarer the seven and West the eight. Dummy next leads the deuce of hearts, East discards the five of clubs—there is no use ruffing as he realizes that the declarer can over-ruff him. Declarer trumps with the nine of diamonds, West following with the jack of hearts.

South, the declarer, next leads the eight of spades, West follows with the three, dummy trumps with the ten of diamonds, East discarding the ten of spades.

To prevent East from discarding any more clubs, dummy now leads the ace and king of clubs, picking up the queen and jack in the East hand, declarer playing the two and three and West the four and ten. Dummy next leads the five of hearts, East follows with the queen of spades, declarer trumps with the jack of diamonds, West following with the king of hearts.

South, the declarer, now leads the five of spades, West follows with the four, dummy trumping with the king of diamonds. East follows with the king of spades. Dummy now leads the six of hearts and East is forced to trump with the five of diamonds, but the declarer over-trumps with the queen of diamonds and grants East the last two tricks.

Although South, with his apparently worthless hand, was very much worried when his partner carried him to five diamonds, by cross-ruffing the hand out he has successfully made his contract.

Julianne Earle Injured In Fall

Julianne Earle, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Earle, 412 South Eighth street, slipped on the sidewalk yesterday afternoon, dislocating her shoulder and causing a slight fracture. Guiding Your Child

SISTERS
By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Helen and Lucy are sisters. Lucy, the younger, cheerfully assumes the little household tasks assigned to her and is ready always to help her mother. Helen, on the other hand, does only what she is forced to do and does it with the worst possible grace.

Their mother, in an effort to teach Helen to be more cooperative, praises Lucy liberally and gives her all sorts of little treats and special privileges as a reward for her good behavior, pointing out at the same time that Helen cannot have these things because she does not do her share. Their mother is surprised that Helen grows more and more unwilling and disagreeable while Lucy is daily more sweet-tempered and helpful.

It would be surprising if the children did anything else. To reward or penalize without trying first to understand the motives which in each instance lie back of a child's conduct is seldom likely to be successful. Children thrive on approval, but penalties and disapproval administered without insight scarcely can fail to make bad behavior even worse.

When one child in a family seems always to do what is right and another seems only to do what is wrong we must look below the surface for the motives of each child's conduct. One cannot but suspect that a child so conspicuously good while her sister is so conspicuously bad is one who has learned to use her advantages in ways which, once we understand, we cannot regard with complacency.

The child who is always in wrong is certainly one who is not understood and who, in all probability, suffers from feelings of inferiority and insecurity in the love of her parents. Obviously there are no simple remedies. Such children need understanding before they need either punishment or reward.

Oscar of the Waldorf Has Sunday Dinner Suggestions

Orange jelly . . . as prepared by Oscar of the Waldorf

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here are the menu and recipes which Oscar of the Waldorf, writing for the Daily Press and NEA Service, suggests for your Sunday dinner.

Oxtail Soup
Beefsteak and Kidney Pudding
Minced Spinach
Lyonnaise Potatoes
Tomato Stuffed With Cabbage
Salad
Orange Jelly
Coffee

Beefsteak and Kidney Pudding

Cut some long rump steaks into pieces about one-quarter of an inch thick, sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour. Chop up a beef kidney into seven or eight pieces, and place together with the meat in a buttered basin lined with suet-crust, pour over a little water or weak stock, and cover with a flat of paste, fastening it all around the edge.

Tie a well-floured cloth over the basin, put in a sauce pan of water and boil for two hours, adding more water if necessary. When done, turn the pudding carefully into a dish and serve very hot.

Orange Jelly

Dissolve one and one-half ounces of gelatine in two gills of boiling water and strain it. Squeeze the juice out of a sufficient number of oranges to fill three tea cups and sufficient lemons to fill one tea cup. Mix the juices together, strain them, and add to the dissolved gelatine. Sweeten to taste with loaf sugar, and boil the whole for a few minutes.

Clarify the jelly with the whites of two eggs and their shells beaten together, and strain through a jelly bag. Rinse a mould out with cold water, pour in the jelly, and leave until set and cold. When ready to serve, turn the jelly onto a fancy dish.

Miss Mabel A. Roland, city auditor, gave an interesting talk on "The Manager Plan of City Government," at a gathering of between fifty and seventy-five women at Marinette Tuesday evening.

The meeting of Marinette women who are interested in civic matters, was held at the Hotel Marinette, the meeting following a dinner which was served at 7 o'clock.

The after dinner program included a talk by Stephen Bolles of the Gazette, of Janesville, Wis., musical numbers and Miss Roland's interesting discussion.

The program was of particular interest to Marinette women in that the city is voting on the manager plan of government on April 1.

Shoestring Start Made Fortune On A Hole In Ground

Cobleskill, N. Y.—Compared with the odd and airy fantasies on which some of America's great fortunes have been built, the man who "started on a shoestring" had a substantial working basis.

Take, for instance, the case of Lester Howe, eccentric discoverer of Howe Caverns here, who got rich out of a hole in the ground.

Recent researches into the curious drama of Howe's life recall romantic stories of other freak fortunes founded, like his, by chance.

There is, of course, James Marshall's classic discovery of gold in the river-silt at Sutter's dam in 1848, which brought him fabulous if fleeting wealth.

There is the fortune of the corporation of Trinity church, the famous sanctuary at the head of Wall street, aggregating an annual income of $1,462,340 and emanating from land grants and a patent permitting vestrymen to seize "all drift whales, or anything else driven by the sea onto the parish lands, and for which there be no other owner." The old patent further directed the that whales be towed ashore, fried and the proceeds used for a building fund.

Descendants of a Chicago pioneer keep themselves in Rolls-Royces through ownership of a tiny plot of land beneath one of the city's large department stores, for which the store must pay the rent demanded since the plot is not for sale.

After Howe discovered the caverns in 1842, through the fondness of his cows for lying on sultry days beside "the blowing rock" where a cool breeze blew constantly, he amassed a considerable fortune from conducting visitors through such passages of this twin-wonder to Niagara Falls as they were able to negotiate. Recent exploration, and an engineering feat which has equipped the caverns with elevators and electric lights, have opened up vast and beautiful new sections of which Howe never dreamed.

School Election Ballots Canvassed

The official canvass of the votes, which were cast in the special election on the proposal to bond the city for $410,000 to erect a new junior high school, disclosing the results to be the same as previously announced in the Daily Press.

A total of 1427 ballots were cast, 938 of which were "yes," 485 "no", and four were blanks.

Benjamin Gero, New Head Of Elks' Lodge

Benjamin Gero was recently elected first exalted ruler of the Elk's lodge in this city, a position which he held when that organization was first organized here.

Other officers who were elected are: W. S. Kefauver, esteemed leading knight; Robert Arrowood, esteemed loyal knight; R. G. Hentschell, esteemed lecturing knight; H. A. Cockram, secretary; W. J. Shinar, treasurer; W. B. Thomas, tyler; A. W. Cockram, trustee for three years, Stanley O. Crowe, representative to the grand lodge.

Howard Examination Will Be Postponed

The examination of Lee Howard, which was scheduled for Saturday morning at Judge W. G. Stephen's court, has been definitely postponed until some time next week. Attorney P. T. O'Connor, who is to represent Howard at the examination, will be unable to appear here on account of the circuit court session which is now in progress at Newberry.

Howard is charged with froging two checks on local merchants.

Principal Cast for Elk's Play Revealed

John Kelly, as Corporal Eagen, and William Stewart, as Izzy Goldstein, his junior buddy, will take the principal roles in the Elk's home talent production which is to be given at the Gero theatre on April 8 and 9.

Mr. Kelly is well-known here both in athletic and dramatic circles, being coach of the high school basketball team and starring in the play "Easy Pickings" as an Irish policeman.

As the story goes, Izzy Goldstein and Corporal Eagen are buddies. They have been in the army only thirty days and are typical rookies. Their comical antics, through times of fortune and ill luck as well, their time served as K. P.'s and all of the other circumstances that arise, make the show a decided success.

Red's (Eagen's) girl Sally, played by Mary Nagel, is suspected as a spy while visiting at the camp. Red and Izzy are very brave and bold when alone, but actually are extremely cowardly. Never realizing that his girl Sally is suspected of being a spy, Red begins a search for the intruder and accidentally captures the real spy, thereby saving his girl. He is then promoted to a corporal.

The play is a scream from start to finish and everybody will be delighted to see these two men perform. You can't afford to miss "Corporal Eagen."

MEMORY LANE FUND GROWING

A total of 50 trees have been pledged for the Escanaba American Legion's 1930 Memory Lane planting program, it was reported yesterday by Elmer Swanson, chairman of the committee.

The Legion has set a goal of 100 trees for planting this season, and it is expected that this number will be sufficient to complete the western end of the avenue of trees which extends along Highway US-2 west of the city.

The contributors to the fund so far, and the number of trees purchased by each, follows:

Game Warden Nabs Harry Lohmiller

Shawano, Wis.—On Wednesday morning, Harry Lohmiller's friends were looking forward to a trout dinner. On Wednesday afternoon, the same pals were solicitous lest Harry land in the county jail.

The feast that was to have been set at Lohmiller's roadhouse, "The Princess Palace," was not served last night. Perhaps the old gang got together to eat canned salmon, but the 76 beautiful speckled trout concealed behind the ice box at the resort had been confiscated by the law.

Armed with a search warrant, Game Warden Arthur Tic visited the resort Wednesday morning, proved that his "trout" suspicions were will founded, and took the proprietor into custody. When brought into Justice H. O. Buth's court yesterday afternoon, Lohmiller pleaded guilty to the two charges of violation of the game laws, having trout in his possession during the closed season and exceeding the bag limit.

Fines and costs assessed by the court totalled $110.50, which was paid. The trout were disposed of according to law.

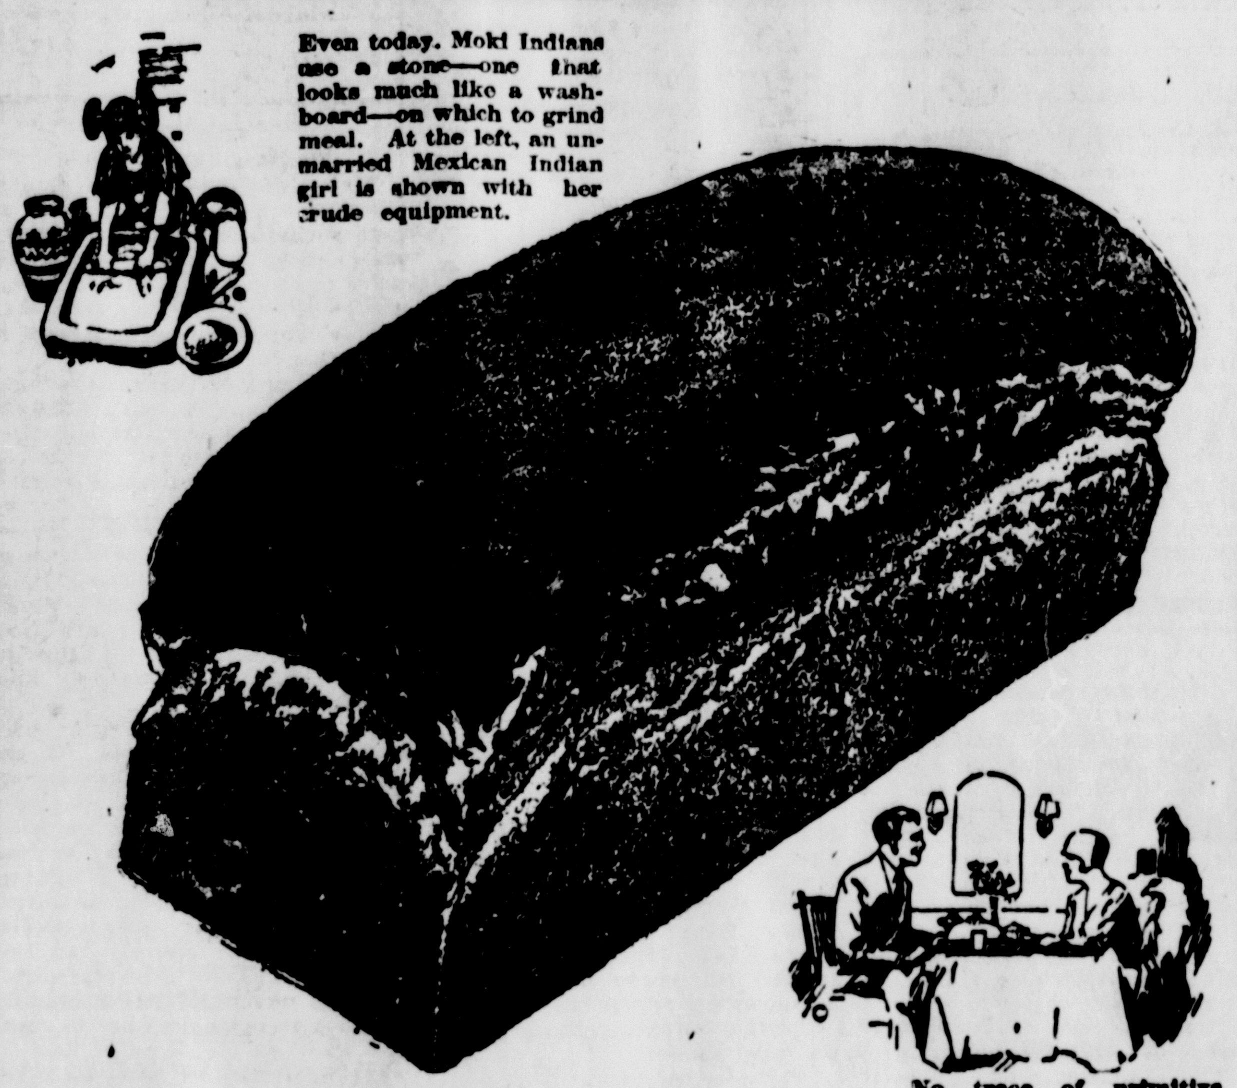
BREAD BAKING IN OTHER LANDS



Even today. Moki Indians use a stone—one that looks much like a washboard—on which to grind meal. At the left, an unmarried Mexican Indian girl is shown with her crude equipment.

No trace of primitive baking is found by the diner, in Butter Bread. Only the most modern equipment, only the most modern methods are used to produce this famous loaf.

:-: MARKET

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

Many mothers are faced with the problem of serving a wholesome noon meal to children, even though the hearty dinner for the rest of the family may be in the evening.

Since the modern rule is meat only once a day, a nourishing dish concocted without meat must be provided for the noon meal if meat is served at the family dinner. Dishes of this sort, however, often are rather tedious to make and are not easily and quickly digested.

Savory spinach is ideal for such a luncheon dish for children. The combination of rice with spinach is excellent from a dietetic standpoint.

Savory Spinach

Two pounds spinach, ¾ cup diced celery, 1 large onion, 1-3 cup rice, 2 thin slices bacon, 2 table-spoons grated cheese , 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, few grains white pepper.

Mince bacon. Peal and mince onion. Wash spinach through many waters. Put bacon in deep closely covered sauce pan and cook over a low fire until fat is well fried out. Add celery, onion, spinach and rice and cook closely covered for 30 minutes. Season with pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Stir in cheese and as soon as cheese is melted, serve.

If the rice is allowed to stand in lukewarm water to cover for several hours, it should cook tender in 30 minutes and absorb the spinach juice. All the good of the spinach is preserved in this way. No water is added unless the rice does not become tender in the spinach stock before it is absorbed.

Another unusual vegetable luncheon dish is a combination of onions and sweet potatoes in a nut sauce.

Luncheon Dish

Four large onions, 2 or 3 large sweet potatoes, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, paprika, ½ cup Brazil nuts cut in slices, 1 teaspoon cornstarch.

Choose onions of uniform size and cook in boiling salted water until tender. It will take about one hour. In the meantime, pare sweet potatoes and cut in halves or quarters, lengthwise. Parboil for 15 minutes in not more than two cups of water. Then, if the sauce pan can be put in the oven, add butter and sugar, cover closely and bake in a moderate oven until tender. If sauce pan cannot be used in oven, bake potatoes in a casserole without first parboiling. Brown nuts in oven.

When ready to serve, arrange onions in center of hot platter and sprinkle with grated cheese, pars-

When the bag is empty-

count up the cost!

Millions of thrifty, economical women have learned that it's actually cheaper to buy Pillsbury's Best Flour, even if they pay more for it than for ordinary flour. Cheaper in cold hard cash—not merely in time and trouble. When the flour is used, when the bags are empty, Pillsbury's Best has cost less in dollars and cents than the cheaper flour. In other words, Pillsbury's Best is a bargain, even at a higher price. This is not queer—consider these facts:

(1) Pillsbury's Best Flour will never cause a baking failure—and baking failures cost too much money.

(2) Pillsbury's Best is an unusually rich flour. It yields more foods per bag, makes food stay fresh longer, gives a finer flavor to everything you bake.

(3) Pillsbury's Best is a true all-purpose flour. You can use it successfully for all your baking—bread, biscuits, cakes and pastry.

Remember Pillsbury's Best—the most economical and satisfactory flour you can buy at any price. All good grocers have it—ask for it by name!

By SISTER MARY
(NEA Service Writer)

During the mid-season when our appetites are beginning to crave fresh green vegetables, many housewives are faced by the problem of satisfying this longing without overstraining the pocketbook by buying the new but highly priced vegetables which are being shown in the markets.

Cabbage, crisply fresh and inexpensive, is one of the vegetables that always can be depended upon. It not only satisfies the appetite, it also provides vitamins and minerals in abundance.

When cabbage is cooked, there are a few precautions which must be observed if it is to retain all its food value, stay white in color and be delicately flavored.

Don't Over-color Cabbage

The first rule for cooking cabbage is to cook it only until tender. Finely shredded cabbage cooked in water to cover needs from ten to fifteen minutes. New cabbage cut into quarters should not be cooked longer than 35 minutes and 20 or 25 is better. Prolonged cooking develops a dark color and strong flavor.

The second rule is to cook cabbage in an uncovered utensil. This allows the odor to escape and prevents the vegetable from reabsorbing it. Raw cabbage is not strong-flavored. It is through the heat of cooking that certain compounds are released. Incorrect cooking methods develop unpleasant taste and odor from these substances.

Braised Cabbage

One small head cabbage, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup boiling water, 4 tablespoons olive oil, 1-3 cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 6 peppercorns, 2 bay leaves, 1-4 teaspoon powdered thyme, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper.

Cut cabbage crosswise in slices about one inch thick. Let stand in cold salted water for 15 minutes. Drain and put into a shallow sauce pan with remaining ingredients. Cook 15 or 20 minutes until tender. Do not cover while cooking.

HOT CARAMEL

A hot caramel sauce will dress up stale sponge cake into a nice pudding or make a bread pudding into a holiday dessert.

IRREGULAR BRIMS

Some of the new hats of lacy straws for suit wear have decidedly large brims but they are delightfully irregular. One cuts its brim to a point in front, with a grosgrain bow at the part.

BLACK-PINK

That touch of Patou's rose opaline is in evidence on many black hats and black dresses. Since pink is so exquisitely feminine and black so chick, it is a combination hard to beat. But if you are matching up a black hat and frock, both using pink, be sure your pinks match.

NEW BLOUSES

There must be thousands of new blouses on the market. Most of them have ties, jabots, ruffles, or collars. The neckline is elaborated on all.

MISS BACKLUND PLEASES MANY

Interesting Narrative of Missionary Work Heard Here

An intensely interesting lecture on missionary work was delivered by Miss Sophia Backlund, foreign missionary, at services Thursday evening at the Swedish Mission church. A large and appreciative audience heard this gifted speaker who so fluently told of her experiences in this work. The talk was given in Swedish.

Miss Backlund is a native of Sweden and has been engaged in French Congo, Africa, by the Mission Covenant of Sweden. The covenant began this great work in 1895 when an allotment of territory for missionary purposes was given them by the Livingstone inland mission.

Miss Backlund described the many difficulties and seemingly impossible situations that confront the missionary worker but stated that regardless of the number of times that apparently insurmountable obstacles appeared, the work never became dull or tiring.

Tells of Dangers

She stated that preaching the gospel of Christ, in an effort to win converts to Christianity, was but a part of a well balanced program that is carried out. To the sick are given medicines and medical aid and to all the value and principles of personal hygiene are taught. A program of education is also carried on where besides the general courses, the natives are given opportunities to learn trades, such as carpentry, masonary or farming.

Dangers that beset the missionary workers were graphically described. The temperature generally ranges 140 to 150 degrees farenheit which together with the climate, greatly distresses a white person. She told of the two seasons, the dry lasting from May to October and the wet which runs from October to May and during which rain falls incessantly, almost driving people to madness. Wild beasts lurking in the forest also form a menace to human life and numerous diseases stalk in the wake of the missionary.

Natives Friendly

Miss Backlund stated that the whites and their religion were very warmly received by the natives and that during the past fifty years many large churches were founded and are now in active service with many thousands of members attending.

Over one hundred workers are employed in the Congo by the Mission Covenant, hearers were told, and although during the time that the covenant has been operating over 50 have given their lives to this work, there is never a lack of others to carry on this great project.

"Greater love hath no man than to lay down his life for his friends."

BOWLING NOTES

The City Club and the Veneers facing the Rialtos and the Legion, respectively, swept their matches in straight games at the Rialto alleys Thursday evening. The Legionnaires had tough luck in the first game, dropping it by a margin of 3 pins. This was due largely to the way things were breaking against Wescott, who had five consecutive splits in this game.

The scores:

Miss Helen Ackley will be valedictorian of the 1930 graduating class of the Gladstone High school it was announced Thursday afternoon. Miss Zora Hoover will act as class salutatorian. The appointment to the honorary positions were announced following a compilation of the marks of all seniors for the four year High school period, and a listing of the first ten.

Others on the honor roll in order of their rating are:

Helen Birmingham, Elna Peterson, Howard McDonald, Agnes Mallongree, Carl Olson, James Mitchell, James Krueger and Robert Schuler.

Other class positions have not been given out as yet.

Forty-two Seniors will be graduated from Gladstone High school this year. Of the number eighteen will finish the college preparatory course, thirteen, the commercial and eleven, the general.

Thompson Bakery Will Open Today

The new Thompson bakery and ice cream parlor located between Ninth street and Central avenue, in the building formerly accupied by the fruit store, will open its doors this morning.

A full line of baked goods will be carried as well as a complete fountain service, serving ice cream and drinks.

While at present no baking is being done at the new site, equipment and machinery will be installed as soon as possible.

The new bakery will be managed by Dick Heric, present manager of the Gladstone branch.

THEATRES

For me to be invited to express my views on the past, present or future of silent and talking pictures is comparable to asking an Irishman his favorite color—and the answer of course is almost too well known for me to repeat it.

The effectiveness of sound in telling screen stories already has been impressively demonstrated. I cite the furious pitched battles in "Romance of Rio Grande," as an example, and the realism of the colorful fiesta scenes with the native melodies and quaint folk dances. Sound enables the viewer to feel the action as well as see it, and the dialogue makes the story more comprehensible and provides a smoother tempo.

SUNDAY

Each of the five songs featured in "Honey," the musical romance starring Nancy Carroll, which comes to the Rialto theatre for 2 days beginning on Sunday next, was written by W. Franke Harling and Sam Coslow, members of Paramount's studio musical staff.

Harling is the composed of two American operas in jazz rhythm which caused a furore in musical circles in New York—"Deep River" and "The Light from St. Agnes." Sam Coslow is a member of the musical publishing firm of Spier and Coslow. He has composed a great number of successful popular songs.

The other numbers are sung and repeated several times—"Sing You Sinners," "I Don't Need Atmosphere to Fall in Love With You," "Let's be Domestic," and "What is The Power I Have?"

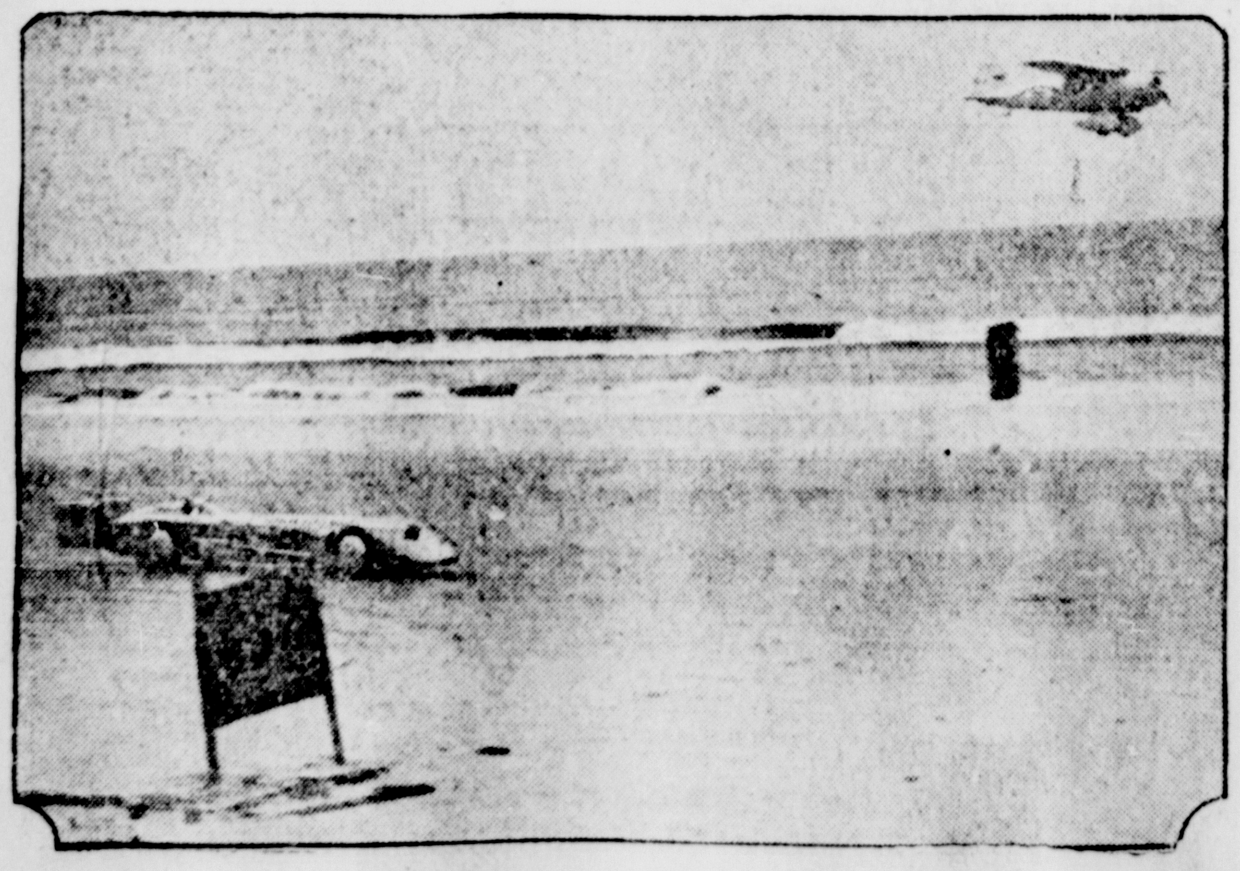
AS "SILVER BULLET" TUNED UP AT DAYTONA BEACH FOR RECORD DASH



It's the "Silver Bullet"—and like a bullet it shot over the smooth sands at 172 miles an hour, as this picture was taken showing Kaye Don's first trial run in his strange-shaped automobile at Daytona Beach, Fla. The plane, shown flying overhead, was quickly left behind by the car in which the daring English driver is preparing for an attempt to set a new world's speed record. He made two test drives and was prevented from making a third because of a broken gasoline line.

Hrach's total of 709 pins was the third series of 700 or better in the individual event this year. In his home league, the Cleveland pinster maintains an average of 194 pins.

PROBABLY ANOTHER ERROR

Maybe it's just another glaring error that Bob Quinn, president-owner of the Boston Red Sox, is pointing out but again it may be an impressive performance by a rookie. Anyhow, the Boston owner has spent a small fortune in gathering minor league talent to bolster his lowly Red Sox. Jack McAllister, left, first assistant manager, and Heinie Wagner, right, new manager, will try to give Quinn something that resembles a ball team. The picture was taken at Boston training camp, Pensacola, Fla.

Murder Backstairs

Strawn snatched at the note, but before he opened the envelope he asked: "How did Della get hold of it?"

"She says she came down the back stairs at 11 last night to get a piece of fruit out of the ice box—they don't feed us any too heavy in this dump—and as she passed through the back hall she saw my note addressed to Doris lying on the table. She took it up to Doris's room but Doris wasn't in, and instead of leaving it there for her, Della kept the note—curiosity, I guess, to see what kind of love letter I write. I could strangle her!" he added violently.

"One murder's enough for today," Strawn assured him cruelly. "Now, we'll have a look at this letter! . . . Hmm. Hmm. . . Here, Dundee!" and he tossed the letter to his subordinate.

The younger detective read it quickly, for it was not long.

"My lovely little darling," it began. "Just a line to tell you I can't keep our date tonight. Have to drive the Smiths home to Westview, damn 'em! Wickett has told me the latest about D. B. For God's sake, and mine, sweetheart, keep out of his way. Don't leave the house tonight on the chance of seeing me when I return from Westview. Go straight to bed, darling, and dream of the red-headed boy who loves you so much he goes crazy sometimes. Gene."

"Get along with your story, Arnold," Strawn commanded curtly. "You drove the Smiths to Westview. When did you get back?"

"I didn't drive them to Westview," Arnold corrected him. When we were passing the Riverside Country Club Mrs. Smith recognized a car that was turning into the club, and hailed it. The folks in the car urged her and Mr. Smith to join them for an hour's dancing, saying they'd drive them home afterwards. So I let them out—"

"The Riverside Country Club?" Strawn repeated, startled, his eyes suddenly narrowing to slits. "That's only about eight miles from here, isn't it? If I'd known this, young man, you'd have been on the carpet long ago!"

"But I didn't come straight home, see?" Arnold retorted angrily. "I drove out the Hamilton Pike to Sheridan road, parked the car and sat there for half an hour or more."

"Expect me to swallow that?" Strawn grinned. "Twiddling your thumbs and dreaming about getting married, eh?"

"Dreaming about getting married, yes! But instead of twiddling my thumbs I was counting cars, and here's the proof!" The hot-tempered young man drew two soiled envelopes from a breast pocket of his uniform and passed them to the detective. "I made a mark for every car that passed that corner, and if you'll count the fives, you'll see that the total is 146. I've been planning to lease the southeast corner of those two cross-roads, and put up a filling station with my savings. I'd checked passing cars on a Sunday afternoon and on a week day around six o'clock, but I still wasn't satisfied, and wanted to see how heavy night traffic was, before I ventured my money. Doris and I had made up our minds not to work for anybody, man or woman, when we got married, but now—" and he groaned, hiding his eyes behind a crooked arm.

"Anybody to corroborate this neat little alibi?" Strawn asked.

"I suppose my car was noticed by at least a hundred people, but I don't know who any of them were. I didn't speak to anyone. But that's the truth—take it or leave it."

"And what time do you say you got back here, after using your employer's car on private business?"

"About five minutes after 12. I remember looking at the clock on the dashboard when I was held up by a passing freight train just outside of Hamilton. It was 12 straight-up then, and it took me not more than five minutes to reach the gates of Hillcrest. It was when I was turning into our own driveway that I saw the man."

"What did he look like? What was he doing?" Strawn demanded skeptically.

"I didn't get a good look at him," Arnold admitted. "I just supposed it was a new sweetie that Della or Peggy, the downstairs maid, had picked up somewhere, and had been having a sneak date with. He was big and tall both, and was wearing a light gray top coat and a gray felt hat.

"When I swung my car in between the gates he was running away from them up the road. My headlights were on him just a second, and I only saw his back, but he ran like an athlete, I'm telling you! I thought at the time he was hurrying to catch the interurban trolley, which had just whistled at the stop about six blocks away from Hillcrest. There's a station just north of here, you know, and he was headed in that direction."

"Big and tall—ran like an athlete, eh?" Strawn repeated thoughtfully. He reached for the library desk and called police headquarters.

"Round up John Maxwell, Sergeant Turner," he ordered crisply. "Yeah. That Maxwell. He got into town yesterday . . . Yeah. Maybe! . . . Not yet . . . Sure! I'll be in at noon." He hung up the receiver and turned again to the chauffeur.

"Now Arnold, come clean!" he snapped. "Why did you kill the girl and let Dick Berkeley get off scot-free?"

'STIQUE VOTES FOR BASEBALL

Dependent Upon Action Taken at Gladstone and Escanaba

Manistique will have a baseball team in the proposed six club upper peninsula circuit this year if the thirty or more diamond enthusiasts who attended the mass meeting Thursday evening at the fire hall have anything to say about it.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to enter the six club league which is to be composed of Munising, Marquette, Ishpeming, Gladstone, Escanaba, and Manistique. A board of directors was selected to handle the business affairs of the local club. Those whose business it is to direct the destinies of the Manistique organization in financial matters and otherwise are William Dehut, Sam Hankin, Charles Isaackson, Claude Smith and Jack Nelson.

Still Questionable

Baseball for Manistique is still a trifle uncertain, however, as it is felt that both Escanaba and Gladstone would have to occupy berths in the league in order to make local baseball profitable. Both of these cities have yet to decide on the matter. Correspondence received from both Escanaba and Gladstone indicates that they expected Manistique to decide on baseball before they themselves submitted the matter to their respective public.

Escanaba will have to find a suitable field for their diamond activities as the fences and grandstand have been torn down some few years ago and the field has not been kept in condition. The problem at Gladstone is more simple, for they have good grounds and have only to look for someone to take over the reins and obtain some promising baseball material. Now that this city has voiced its opinion as to how they stand on the baseball situation, it is expected that the above mentioned teams will take immedate action.

Need Delta Cities

The concensus of opinion among the fans Thursday evening was that Manistique would have to abandon baseball should either Gladstone or Escanaba decide against baseball. To play the other towns in a four club league, the trips would be too long and the interest and rivalry would not be good enough to attract much of a gate.

So the destiny of Manistique baseball awaits the formation of all the clubs in the upper peninsula league before any further action can be taken here. With that done, the board of directors will swing into action to raise a few hundred dollars among the business men and others who would like to donate so as to be able to provide uniforms, other equipment, and to put a field into condition.

When all of the clubs have signified their intentions of becoming league members, a meeting will be held at which each club will have a representative and general rules governing the league as to finances, selection of umpires, forfeits, etc., will be drawn up together with a schedule of games for the season.

To have amateur baseball will not require the enormous sums which were needed formerly when players were awarded contracts on a salary basis. It is generally believed that with good financial management, the books at the end of the season will show a profit and the players will receive a satisfactory split.

To Present Song In Pantomine At Methodist Church

If a man could have leisurely and serenly watched, with the eye of a painter, the imagination of a poet, and the heart of a christian, the varied seasons of the year, spring, summer, fall and winter, fifty times in succession what is that to the inexhaustible magnificence and beauty each year poured out anew.

What is that to the infinite variety and freshness of night and day, morning and evening, cloud and sky, sea and land, mountain and dale, sunshine and rain, brooks and banks, running streams and mighty rivers, plain and valley, springing herbage, and opening and falling flowers, trees budding, blossoming, clustering with fruits and foliage; a wilderness of leaves changing with the months in hues that speak to the soul in their evanescent yet perpetual beauty; a wilderness that from seed or from the root of man's planting, or of natures, wild, unsought, unstudied abundance and abandonment, first break the earth and open to the sunlight in the green blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear; growing, changing, from shape to shape, from color to color, from the freshness of spring to the ripeness of fall!

All this combined with the renewal, diversity and gaiety of animal life, in forms fruits and flowers; all in one grand, mighty, everchanging seasonal panorama under the cope of heaven, in every season entirely new, and yet the same!

Our human life is not enough to make nature familiar to us. In the beautiful song "In The Garden" the author has attempted to bring us into this garden of God, and this garden will be arranged in the First Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday evening and this song presented in pantomime.

BLIZZARD STOPS COUNTY TRAFFIC

Township Roads Blocked But Main Trunk Highways are Open

The two-day blizzard Wednesday and Thursday put road traffic in Schoolcraft and surrounding counties at practically a standstill. Farmers have been handicapped considerably by the high drifts which in places reach a height of from eight to ten feet.

Through the efforts of the county road crews in Schoolcraft and Mackinac counties, U. S. highway 2 was kept open to travel as far as St. Ignace, but was impassable from there on to the Soo. Trunk highways in Schoolcraft county were open throughout the storm, according to John McCarthy, county highway commissioner. M-77 is open for traffic as far as Seney and M-96 was clear from here to Germfask.

Newberry Blocked

Newberry has been entirely shut off by the late blizzard. The road between Germfask and Newberry is in poor shape. Late Thursday evening it was stated that the Manistique home talent play, "Stray Cats," originally scheduled to be held at Newberry Friday evening, would have to be postponed.

Members of the state highway department which included Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner; C. M. Ziegler, construction engineer, and B. C. Tiney, maintenance engineer, who were enroute from Escanaba to Lansing by automobile, were escorted as far as Isabella Wednesday evening by a Delta county snow plow, and the road was cleared for them from Isabella through Manistique and thence onward by Schoolcraft county plows until met by a Mackinac crew which conducted the party as far as St. Ignace.

Farmers were unable to attend the meeting at the court house Wednesday afternoon, at which R. V. Gunn, state crop expert, was the principal speaker, due to the impassability of the highways. The storm was one of the most violent to visit this vicinity this winter.

Many snow fences were removed inopportunely, thus permitting the snow to sweep onto the highways in huge drifts.

THEATRES

ANNA CHRISTIE

It is entirely characteristic of Greta Garbo that she walked right into her first talking picture without ever taking counsel with a voice test.

The very minute she looked up and saw the microphone over her head was perhaps the most important in her career. She was going to talk in pictures. Or she wasn't.

Not the slightest trace of anxiety or apprehension did she betray.

Instead, she merely nodded readiness and began her lines.

"Anna Christie" at last was under way. Garbo was making her first talking picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, a debut long awaited by critics and public alike.

Faculty to Play Student Five On Tuesday Evening

The date for the student-faculty basketball games has been definitely set for next Tuesday evening, April 1. The woman teachers have selected a team to play against the student girls' team as a preliminary contest to the featured game between the men faculty and the crack Manistique high school basketball team.

Superintendent A. F. Hall, manager and captain of the instructor five, announces that no definite lineup has been selected by him as yet and that all faculty members who wish to participate in the game will be given a chance to demonstrate their ability.

Both games should be very interesting to watch and the men's contest may develop into a real thriller as some of the faculty members formerly starred on various college teams and should give the younger boys a nip-and-tuck battle. An admission of 25 cents will be charged for the games.

Irag is taking up scientific agricultural development.

(x—New highs.)

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Mar. 28 (AP)—Whole speculation for the rise was resumed in the final hour of trading in today's stock market. Utility, rail, amusement, motor and specialty issues were taken in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares, and stock price indices generally recorded new high levels for the year at the close. Total sales aggregated 5,056,240 shares, the largest day's business since Deturnover by a narrow margin.

Opens Firm

The vigorous outburst of buying closely resembled the wild bull rampage that burst upon the market in the late trading on Wednesday. The movement was highly selective and highly professional. Several shares moved against the upward trend, notably the mail order and merchandising shares. The oils were given a breathing spell. The rails were taken in hand for the first time in several weeks, and several were sent to new high levels for the year. The price index of 90 issues gained 2 1-15 points.

The market opened firm in response to the unexpected decline of $21,000,000 in weekly brokers' loans, and moved irregularly higher during the early hours of trading. Considerable selling had to be absorbed, and trading quieted down until mid-afternoon, when the ticker caught up with trading. The selling appeared to have dried up, and with the session too well along to be in danger of attracting much profit taking before the close, the bull crowd swamped the trading floor with buying orders.

The day's news was not of a character to influence trading. The weekly business and trade reviews again reported gradual and irregular gains, pointing out that the seasonal upturn to be expected at this time had been retarded by the blizzard in the middle west. The surprising decrease in brokers' loans, covering a period in which the index of 90 leading stocks gained nearly 3 points, and in which trading was in good volume, appeared to dominate speculative sentiment.

Among the more bullish theories offered was that investment trusts and other institutions had been withdrawing funds from the call loan market and buying stocks outright. Outright purchases of bonds from dealers by investors was also probably an important factor, in view of the large amount of new offerings of late. Call money continued firm today, renewing at 4 per cent, against 3½ yesterday, and holding at that level, as about $50,000,000 in loans was called, presumably to meet week-end and month-end banking requirements.

American Telephone Rises

American Telephone was a strong feature, rising more than 7 points to a new high for the year at 257½, in response to predictions of an early offering of rights, and some gossip as to a vague possibility of segregating Western Electric through offering the stock as a dividend to A. T. & T. stockholders. Utilities more than recovered yesterday's losses, with the Electric Bond and Share group displaying conspicuous buoyancy. Electric Power and Light and National Power and Light rose more than 5 points to new 1930 highs.

General Electric was a feature of the industrials, rising more than 2 points to 83 3-8, a record level for the new stock. General Motors was sent up to 51 for the first time this year. The movement in the rail issue was in the face of unsatisfactory February reports for most carriers, and based on better prospects later in the year, and expectations of favorable merger developments. Alleghany Corp., Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago Great Western Preferred, Wabash, Western Maryland, and Kansas City Southern rose about 2 to 7 points to record 1930 prices.

Commodity markets were firmer. Wheat sold up about 2 cents, with a better market at Liverpool, and bullish weather and crop reports. Corn sold up about a cent, and cotton futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 75 cents higher.

Leading foreign exchange rates rallied, Sterling cables ruling 1-8 higher at $4.85 5-8.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Mar. 82 (AP)—Bond trading had a tendency to mark time today on the expectation that money rates would again ease with the turn of the month early next week. Liquidation of issues that had been heavily bought during the recent rise brought out declines in numerous rails, but buying orders elsewhere tended to even the declines and advances and the list was generally firm.

As in yesterday's session, the convertibles furnished the broadest moves. American Telephone 4½s soared 6¾ points, scoring most of their gain in the final hour as the stock was rushed upward, and closing at 177½. Warner Brothers Pictures 6s, heavily traded, touched 113, a new top, and closed 1¾ higher at 112¾. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s rose about half a point, also on a large turnover. The volume in these three issues accounted for about $3,600,000 out of the day's total of $14,758,000.

Industrials Steady

Rails affected by moderate selling included Nickel Plate 5½s, Soo Line 5½s, Reading 4½s, Western Maryland 4s, Union Pacific 4s and 4½s, and Reading General 4½s. On the other hand, such issues as Santa Fe General 4s, Rock Island 4s, Missouri Pacific General 4s, Northern Pacific Prior Lien 4s, Pennsylvania 4¾s and Consolidated 4s and Union Pacific First 4s made small gains.

Both issues of American Telephone Debenture 5s displayed little resistance to offerings and averaged about ¾ lower. Other high grade utilities, however, were well supported and the composite price for ten bonds of this description made a small advance. Industrials were steady. Armour Real Estate 4½s, Goodyear Tire 5s, Reading Coal & Iron 5s and Sinclair Pipe Line 5s showed an upward trend.

Numerous Latin-American bonds yielded a point or more. Brazil 6½s, the Colombia Bank issues, Chile Mortgage Bank 6¾s and San Paulostate 6s lost one to two. Belgium 7s of 1956 sagged 1¼, closing a point lower. There was another large turnover in British 4s which rose about ⅛.

EARNINGS

New York, Mar. 28 (AP)—McKesson & Robbins, Inc., holding company for a country-wide chain of wholesale drug companies, in its annual report for 1929, showed net profits of $4,109,872, compared with $3,741,281 in the previous year.

In his report to stockholders, F. Donald Coster, president, said that while the per share earnings for 1929 would indicate an apparent increase in comparison with the 1928 earnings, such was not the case as "in the judgment of the management the net earnings for 1929 are not comparable with 1928, as they do not indicate the true earning power of the company." He explained that large expenditures were made during the year in acquiring new properties.

The company maintains 67 units, serving approximately 48,000 retail druggists.

Net earnings of the Amerada corporation, petroleum producers, for 1929, totaled $2,758,900, equal to $2.99 a share on the common stock, as against $2,214,109, or $2.40 a share in 1928.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Mar. 28—Drought southwest brought about soaring prices today for wheat. Complaints of excessively dry weather came from Kansas and Oklahoma in particular, with reports current that unless general soaking rains were received farmers were in for a big disappointment as to yields from the 1930 harvest of domestic hard winter wheat. There were also advices that damage to soft winter wheat was showing up in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at the day's top, 1¼ to 2 1-8c a bushel higher than yesterdays finish. Corn closed 3-4 to 1 1-8c up, oats unchanged to 5-8c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7c.

Especially during the late transactions, wheat crop news relating to a wide sweep of wheat territory both west and east of the Mississippi became increasingly pessimistic. Outstanding as a feature was an official summary from Oklahoma which said rain now was needed urgently throughout the state. Under such circumstances and with word at hand that Rumania, one of the largest of European exporters, also was complaining of lack of moisture, the market here mounted steadily, showing itself sensitive as well as to something of a jump in today's closing prices at Liverpool.

Corn and oats followed the leadership of wheat, notwithstanding reported purchases of corn to come here from other terminal markets.

Despite downturns in hog values, provisions were somewhat firmer on account of scattered buying.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May, 1.08 3-4 to 7-8, 1.11 7-8; July, 1.06¼ to 5-8, 1.09½ to -58; September, 1.08 3-8 to ½, 1.11 3-8 to ½. Corn, May 83 5-8 to 3-4, 84 7-8 to 85; July, 85¼ to 3-8, 86 3-4 to 7-8; September, 85 3-4, 87 1-8.

New York, Mar. 28 (AP)—An improvement in the insolvency record for the country was noted this week, with the total of 533 business failures reported to R. G. Dun & Co. This is 25 below last week's figure and 27 less than the 560 defaults of two weeks ago. A year ago this time 512 bankruptcies were reported.

Fred W. Gardner, executive vice president of the Gardner Motor Co., of St. Louis, has been elected to the directorate of the Detroit Aircraft Corp.

The Motor Wheel Corp. has acquired the Cleveland Welding Co., manufacturers of tire rims. It is understoood that about 50,000 shares of Motor Wheel stock were given in exchange for that of the Cleveland companq.

Wall Street heard today that the Peerless Motor ar Corp., of Cleveland, is negotiating for American rights to manufacture a front wheel drive automobile under patents held by a group of individuals in Europe. The process is believed to be of French design. No official confirmation or denial has been made.

The Copper and Brass Research association reports that the sales of brass and copper pipe tubing reached a new high total of 77,992,084 pounds during 1929, compared with 76,777,400 pounds in 1928. Sales in 1929 were said to be practically five times the amount sold in 1922.

Orders for tires on the books of the large manufacturers in the Akron district were said to be satisfactory in private advices to members of the Rubber Exchange. While the total is not as large as the quantity ordered for spring delivery last year, it will assure a steady rate of operations for some time to come, it was stated.

The February net operating income of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific lines amounted to $1,107,935, compared with $1,431,212 in February, 1929.

IRREGULARITY MARKS CURB

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL,
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Mar. 28 (AP)—Prices on the New York Curb market moved irregularly higher today as chief speculative interest shifted back and forth between the public utilities and specialties. The market opened higher, consolidated its gains in the face of rather heavy profit-taking, and then spurted upward again in the last hour, with final quotations generally around the high levels of the day. The unexpected decrease of $21,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans was the principal bullish influence.

Electric Bond & Share continued its role of the leader of the public utility group by crossing 109 to a new high for the year, and a net gain of nearly 4 points. Cities Service topped its previous high by a small fraction. American Gas & Electric was one of the soft spots.

Oils Are Steady

Oils held fairly steady, Indian Territory Illuminating moving into new high ground in response to reports of an expansion of its gas pipe line facilities. Gulf, Humble and Vacuum closed fractionally lower.

Deere & Co. (new stock) jumped 8½ points to a new high at 151 and then eased a point, while the old stock broke 15 points on a few sales. Fokker Aircraft, which advanced nearly 4 points to a new top at 32 7-8 and retained all but a fraction of its gain, was the leader of the airplane group. Hiram Walker came to life after a long period of inactivity, and established a new high at 11½.

Investment trust and trading corporation shares presented several points of strength as a result of the marked appreciation in their security holdings during the last month. American Equities, American Investors B, and Graymur established new highs while Goldman Sachs was marked up more than 2 points. Foremost Fabrics, National Steel and A. O. Smith were under selling pressure.

The Bible has been published in 23 dialects of English.

Grid Star to Pay Dad's Ransom

Gordon Bristow, below, former Oklahoma University football star, has gone to Tepic, Mex., by airplane to obtain the release of his father, J. A. Bristow, above, 60, Texas oil operator, held for ransom by bandits. Young Bristow planned to pay the 10,000-pesos ransom demand.

Silver fox farming is being introduced into Norway.

AN ODD PET

Cleveland— Miriam Mendelzwig, 11, has all sorts of odd pets, but the most unusual is that brought home by her father recently. While walking along the street a bat fell stunned at his feet. He picked the bat up and took it home to Miriam. Now she has it trained and values it above all her other possessions.

DEMOLAYS COP CONSOLATION

Puckelwartz Leads Offense in Championship Fracas

The Independents won the City amateur tournament championship last night by defeating the Kaysees 32 to 17 in a hard fought game at the high school. The DeMolays trimmed the Wolverines 30 to 21 for consolation honors, in the preliminary game.

Both games were exceedingly well played despite the way the scores show up and the manner in which the contests were handled gives neither of the losing teams cause for alibi.

The Independents, led by Captain Puckelwartz, proved too much for the Kaysees. He scored 19 of his team's total points, dropping them from all angles. McGinn led the scoring for the Kaysees and played exceptionally well, breaking through consistently only to be thrown for a loss as he would be about to shoot. Much credit goes to the Indees guards, Gleich, undoubtedly the best guard in the tournament, blocked many of the Kaysees shots and passed with speed and accuracy. Brunelle also proved a stumbling stone to the Indees, playing a clean, hard game throughout.

Barrage of Shots

In the opening quarter the Independents began a barrage of long shots with Puckelwartz dropping two long ones and a free toss to make up their five points and McGinn tossing in two free throws and a field goal. The quarter ended five all.

The scoring began in the second frame when Puckelwartz again broke through the Kaysees defense to score two field goals in a row. The Kaysees then called time out to put someone on him but this was ineffective for he rung up a total of 13 points in the first half. The half ended with the Indees on the long end, 17 to 9. The game the first half was close and nobody's game.

Things seemed to change in the second half. With Puckelwartz covered there was a ray of hope for the Kaysees. They again started a barrage of long shots, drawing the Kaysee guards up only to find Moreau standing underneath the basket for a short one. Moreau would have caused the Kaysees considerable worry and damage had he made all the baskets he attempted.

Kholman Gets Hot

Kholman began to work and dropped two field goals through the net only to find Puckelwartz on the job again to even things up. Grab substituted for Kholman and sunk another one but DeMars showed up and dribbled around and finally shot a long one from the middle of the floor. The third quarter ended with the Indees having a good lead of 25 to 17.

The Kaysees were unable to score in the final period. Grab was taken out of the game on fouls and then the Kaysee ace, McGinn, went out on fouls, weakening the team considerably. The game ended with the Indees having a good lead, 32 to 17.

The Kaysees had fourteen fouls called on them and the Independents having eight. The Kaysees made seven free throws, the Indees eight.

The Independents will receive gold basketballs as a result of winning first place. The DeMolays won the consolation tournament and will receive a basketball.

A large crowd witnessed the games.

Jack McAuliffe Is Thirteenth Kayo Victim Of Carnera

Denver, March 28 (AP)—Prima Carnera's thirteenth knockout victim, Jack McAuliffe, of Detroit, fell before the giant Italian after two minutes and 18 seconds of fighting in a bout that was set for ten rounds here tonight.

McLarnin Wins 10-Round Decision From Thompson

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 28 (AP)—The dynamite in Jimmy McLarnin's right hand failed to explode tonight and the clouting Celt from Vancouver, B. C., was forced to stage a rapid fire finish to gain a close decision triumph over the hard hitting negro welterweight, Young Jack Thompson of Oakland, Cal., in the ten round feature of Madison Square Garden's fistic frolic.

Bonged and battered, frequently outpunched and out boxed, McLarnin needed all his remarkable courage, generalship and skill to save himself from defeat at the hands of slim, wiry negro puncher. A rally in the last three rounds, when he outscored Thompson to gain the unanimous verdict of Referee Jimmy Crowley and the two judges.

A near capacity crowd of 18,000 was in an uproar throughout most of the fight. Although McLarnin was the popular favorite, Thompsons spectacular but also erratic wok won the approval of the crowd and there was considerable booing when the Irish lads hand was lifted in victory by Bellerin Joe Humphries at the finish of the last furious rally.

On the Associated Press score sheet, McLarnin was given five rounds, Thompson three, with two rated even. The Irishman was given the first, third, fourth, eighth and ninth, Thompson the second, fifth and seventh, with the sixth and tenth registered even.

Thompson, wary and on the defensive at the start, gather courage after weathering the first four rounds and had McLarnin in a bad way with a sensational two fisted drive in the fifth round. This was the most exciting round of the fight. Thompson forced Jimmy around the ring with short, jolting punches to the head, drew blood from the Irish lad's nose and had his opponent in a bad way. McLarnin, groggy and all but knocked from his feet, needed all his generalship to weather the storm. The negro forced most of the fighting throughout the next two rounds, but slowed down and McLarnin, seizing his advantages, again took command of the fight. The Irishman seldom was able to land solidly on the elusive, shifty negro scrapper, but he out boxed and out smarted Thompson at close range.

Swimming Teams Dedicate New Pool

Cambridge, Mass., Mar. 28 (AP)—Twenty college swimming teams here for the seventh annual national collegiate swimming championships, joined in the dedication of Harvard's new pool here today.

Walter Grandy of the University of Pennsylvania, had the highest number of points of the six divers who qualified in the diving trials. His total was 99.9 with Wentworth Lobdel, Iowa's only entry, trailing with 95.26. Captain Ed. Thorndson of Stanford, was third was 88.52; Walter Nappa, of Minnesota, was fourth.

Eastern Wrestlers Lose In National Collegiate Meet

State College, Pa., Mar. 28 (AP)—A crew of heavy muscled youngsters from points west and south took good firm holds on the prime college wrestlers of the east tonight and all but swept them from the annual National Collegiate Association tournament. Out of a field of over 90 agile youths, many of them from the leading colleges of the east, only two from New England remained in the running for championships in eight classes after 46 preliminary bouts that turned the spacious gym at Penn State into whirling panorama of arms and legs and flying bodies during the hectic scrimmaging of the opening day. There were two more from the south, the remains of the Virginia Military Institute entry, while all the rest came from points west—mostly Oklahoma.

Battling neck and neck for the team title, the grapplers of Oklahoma University and Oklahoma Aggies between them grabbed nine of the 32 places in the semi-finals to be staged here tomorrow afternoon. The University had a slight edge on the Aggies, five to four, and are favored to win the crown the southeast farmer boys are defending.

Michigan Boy Wins Louisiana Derby

New Orleans, La., Mar. 28 (AP)—Michigan Boy, the keen three-year-old of J. L. Pontius of Detroit, today won the $10,000 Louisiana Derby, but paid the backers only sixty cents to a dollar in the mutuels.

The muddy Jefferson Park course made the Michigan horse a favorite over Bad News Bob and Brother Rank, the two entries of H. C. Hatch of Chicago, and favorites for a fast track. The winner trailed along under restraint close behind Bad News Bob and Judge Dixon until the half-mile turn where Jockey J. Shelton let him have his head.

SPRING BASEBALL

RAIN DELUGE

Clearwater, Fla., Mar. 28 (AP)—Babe Herman, still among the holdouts, arrived in the Brooklyn Robins' training camp today just as the biggest rain storm of the season deluged Clearwater. Herman communicated by telephone with Frank B. York, club president, but declined to say whether he intended to accept the club's offer at a $15,000 salary.

GIANTS BREAK CAMP

San Antonio, Texas, Mar. 28 (AP)—Frozen out of their game with a Kelly Field soldiers team today, the New York Giants broke camp here tonight and began the long trek to the Polo Grounds. The first stop will be Fort Worth, where, weather permitting, the Giants meet the Chicago White Sox tomorrow.

CUBS LICKED, 9-8

Los Angeles, Mar. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates made it two straight in exhibition combat with the Chicago Cubs by coming from behind in the ninth to win, 9 to 8. The Pirates counted four runs in the winning rally which was featured by Grantham's second home run of the game. Comorosky's single clinched the victory:

YANKS WIN HANDILY

Mobile, Ala., Mar. 28 (AP)—The New York Yankees chalked up their seventh victory in 15 exhibition starts with a 11 to 1 triumph over Mobile of the Southern Association today. Van Pelt and Gomez, sharing the work on the mound for the Yanks, held the minor leaguers to two hits, the latter blanking them in the final five rounds and striking out seven batters.

WHO WILL PLAY SECOND?

Bradenton, Fla., Mar. 28 (AP)—With the days of spring training drawing to an end, at least one big question remains unsettled for the Philadelphia Nationals. The question is, who will play second base?

The Phillies have two good men for the place, Captain Fresco Thompson and Bernie Friberg, both so good it is difficult to decide between them. Manager Burt Shotton admits he is puzzled, but all that he will say is that "either Thompson or Friberg will play second."

BATTING PRACTICE

West Palm Beach, Fla., Mar. 28 (AP)—Today's practice session of the St. Louis Browns was given over almost entirely to batting. Manager Bill Killefer made no secret of the fact that he is disappointed in the punch or lack of punch, showed by the Browns in their exhibition games.

Killefer today told his charges they "were pretty terrible" because they were able to score only two runs against Milwaukee yesterday. Killefer, however, was able to smile when he considered the possibilities of Herman Holhauser, a recruit pitcher from Baltimore. "He'll do," was Bill's verdict.

FINAL SCORE, 15-14

Fort Myers, Fla., Mar. 28 (AP)—The champion Athletics ended their spring training in Fort Myers today by dropping a lively 15 to 14 game to the Boston Braves. The victory gave the National Leaguers their third straight win over the A's.

The Braves landed on Jack Quinn for their 12 runs in the first three innings. Bill Shores succeeded Quinn and gave up three runs in the last rounds. Berger and Neun of Boston hit home runs.

Gladstone, March 28 (Special)—The basketball cagers from the Varsity squad who will graduate this year defeated the basketeers from the squad which will return next season, last night, 19 to 11, at the junior high school gymnasium. The losers will finance a "feed" for the entire squad. The event will mark the close of the present season which saw the Keilmen finish as the second best team in its class in the peninsula.

The 1930-1931 tilt held last night was the play-off of a contest held last week which ended with the score tied after two overtime periods. It was decided to play the contest over.

TEN-YEAR OLD WINS CLASSIC

Shaun Goilin Captures Grand National Steeplechase

Aintree, England, Mar. 28 (AP)—Shuan Goilin, a 10-year-old veteran from the "Ould Sod," galloped from obscurity to international fame today by winning the Grand National Steeplechase, classic of the turf, in a sensational finish.

Only a neck separated the Irish-bred jumper from William Wilson's Melleray's Belle in second place, while barely a length and a half behind came Sir Lindsay, the American-owned favorite, carrying the colors of the New York sportsman, John Hay Whitney. The triumph was by a narrow margin but enough to achieve the life-long ambition of W. H. Midwood, English cotton broker, as he saw Shaun Goilin withstand all challenges over the last few hundred yards of the long course.

500,000 Present

A crowd variously estimated at from 400,000 to 500,000 witnessed the 91st running of one of the most picturesque of all horse races, with a rousing finish to top it all off. The winner, Shaun Goilin, by an unknown sire out of Goldenway, carried 161 pounds, was booted home in a clever ride by Tommy Cullinan and paid off at odds of 100 to 8. Melleray's Belle was quoted at 20 to 1 and Sir Lindsay at 100 to 9.

Only six of the 41 starters finished the gruelling four and one-half mile test, but in that sextet were two American-owned horses and two which claimed the United States as their home in one way or another.

Following Sir Lindsay across the finish line was Glangesia, which once raced on American soil for R. K. Mellon. Bally Honwood, who was fifth, carried the colors of M. D. Blair, an American, who has made his home in England for many years. Sixth place went to Victor Emanuel's Royal Arch II.

Detroit Tigers On Way Back to Home Park—Navin Field

Tampa, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers said their farewells to Tampa tonight and prepared to leave their training headquarters early tomorrow on a journey which, after stops in four states, will take them to their home park, Navin field.

Tomorrow's destination is Orlando, Fla., where the Tigers will meet the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game. From there they will go to Jacksonville, then to Macon, Ga., Atlanta, Louisville, Indianapolis, Evansville and Terre Haute, playing at least one game in each place.

The training here has been without untoward incident, and Manager Stanley Harris starts back with 29 of the 33 men who came here wtih him. The recruits showed up so well that he could reach a definite decision as to only three of them who were sent down to various minor teams. One of last year's players, John Prudhomme, pitcher, also was found not to be in shape for the season and was sent to Toronto.

From the start Harris was untroubled by holdouts, injuries and other griefs common to spring training. His squad has made a good showing in all exhibition games to date except for two debacles when playing the Indianapolis American Association club. The Indians will have a chance to work their hoodoo again, if they can, when the Tigers stop at the Hoosier capital on the way home.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND ONE

Thompson led with a long left and McLarnin missed with his right. They sparred and Jimmy curled his left around the negro's neck. Thompson hooked a left to the head and missed. The Irish lad connected with a right smash to the head but took a stiff left to the chin. Thompson took a cuffing at close range but tore back in. There was no decisive action as each sought for openings. The bell ended a fast mixup.

ROUND TWO

Thompson boxed fast and worked a left to head that puzzled McLarnin. They were both cautious and somewhat wild. McLarnin shifted his attack to the body and took a stiff left to the ribs. Thompson forced the Irishman to a corner with a sudden flurry but did no damage. Jimmy lost his balance after dodging a left swing. They spent much of their time sparring. Thompson scored with both hands to the head but missed a vicious right swing. The negro connected with a right uppercut at the bell.

ROUND THREE

McLarnin tried to feint Thompson out of position without much success. Jimmy connected with a long right to the head but the negro took few chances and boxed cleverly. Both continued to work cautiously. They exchanged lefts to the head. McLarnin took a right hand shot to the face without countering. Jimmy connected with both hands to the jaw and they clinched as the bell rang.

ROUND FOUR

Thompson danced in and out working a left to the face. McLarnin bobbed out of reach but Thompson leaped in with right to the head. Jimmy stuck both hands to the jaw as they sparred at a fast pace. Both were looking for openings for a knockout wallop. McLarnin connected with a left to the chin but Thompson appeared unhurt. The negro slipped but was back on his feet after a moment. They were swinging with both hands at the bell, but thus far there had been no decisive action.

ROUND FIVE

Jimmy took a right hand chop to the chin. They continued to box at a fast pace without attempting to clinch. Thompson landed a hard right to the head and McLarnin backed away. McLarnin was warned for low punches. Thompson drove McLarnin around with a two fisted attack and Jimmy appeared hurt. Both were slugging and the crowd was in an uproar. McLarnin gave ground but was fighting back at the bell.

ROUND SIX

Thompson took a right to the head and worked in close. McLarnin dug his right to the ribs and both missed left swings. McLarnin again was warned for hitting low with his left. Jimmy kept the aggressive, working both hands to the head and forced Thompson to cover up. The negro shot a hard right to the jaw and repeated. Jimmy drove both hands to the body but took another hard right to the chin as the gong sounded.

ROUND SEVEN

Thompson came out first jabbing with his left. The negro let fly a long right that glanced off Jimmy's cheek. McLarnin was having trouble solving Thompson's shifty defense. They boxed fast at close range. Jimmy worked a left to the head but took two smashing rights to the body and ear. Thompson rolled with a right to the head. Jimmy barely ducked a hard right and was again warned for a low left that was several inches below the waist line. They went into a fast mixup and McLarnin punched both hands to the body at the bell.

ROUND EIGHT

Both swung and connected with lefts. Thompson forced the fighting in an attempt to land a telling blow but McLarnin tied him up. Jimmy took a cuffing around the head and gave ground before the negro's rush. They leaned head to head and slugged. Thompson connected with a right and McLarnin again hooked with what looked like a low blow. Thompson smashed his right to the ribs and Jimmy was wild.

The negro kept a protective covering of leather about his head as McLarnin tried to land a knockout wallop.

ROUND NINE

ROUND TEN

Thompson drove both hands to the body and forced Jimmy about the ring. They leaned head to head and slugged at a terrific pace. Thompson worked both hands to the head and Jimmy countered with a hard right to the chin. Both swung to the head and then punched away at each other's ribs in a fast mixup. McLarnin shot a hard right to the chin but Thompson raced the Irishman with both hands in return. Thompson jolted McLarnin with a right to the jaw. Both seemed groggy as they pounded each other without a letup at the bell.

LELAND TRIMS CLAUDE BRACEY

Texas Christian Sprint Star Wins Century in 9.7 Seconds

Memorial Stadium, Austin, Tex., Mar. 28 (AP)—The southwest's greatest sprinter, Cy Leland of Texas Christian University, today proved his right to the title by defeating Claude Bracey, the Dixie flier, a full two yards in the 100-yard dash, feature of the sixth annual Texas University relays, here. Leland's time was 9.6 seconds.

It marked the second time in a fortnight that Leland had shown his heels to Bracey. He distanced his rival in the 100 and 220-yard events two weeks ago at Fort Worth.

A stiff wind faced the two stars today and the track was damp from yesterday's rains. They were away together, but Leland jumped into a two-foot lead at the half-way point and was pulling away at the finish. Treps of Marquette University broke the tape third, a yard behind Bracey.

1,000 Participate

Leland's time in the century was one-fifth of a second slower than the relay record of 9.5 set last year by Bracey with a wind at his back. The furlong was not included on today's program.

More than 1,000 university, college and high school athletes participated in today's carnival. Three meet records fell by the wayside in the University division.

Bausch, Kansas University husky, set a new mark in the shotput with a heave of 48 feet 7¼ inches, beating the former record by two inches. Thornhill, also of Kansas, flung the discus 145 feet 9 7-8 inches for a new relay record.

Marquette's great relay team set a new meet mark in the university medley with a time of 10 minutes, 29 4-5 seconds.

Butler University won the four-mile relay after a gruelling duel with Nebraska. The two teams ran shoulder to shoulder until the final quarter mile, when Joe Sivak, Butler anchor man, pulled away to win by 20 yards.

Practically the same field will take part in the second annual Southern Methodist University relays tomorrow at Dallas. Points were not compiled in today's meet.

RAIN; NO GAME

Bradenton, Fla., Mar. 28 (AP)—The Cardinals were rained out this afternoon in their last exhibition game with a major league club in the south. They were to have met Burt Shotton's Phillies.

Carnera Must Oppose First Raters, Boxing Association Decides

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 28 (AP)—The National Boxing association gave warning today it may stop the one round knockout tour of Primo Carnera, immense Italian heavyweight who has been making money by flooring allegedly inferior opponents.

Stanley M. Isaacs, N. B. A. president, said Carnera, rated as a first class fighter and considered in many sources to be a championship possibility, has been making a comedy of the American boxing game by insisting on contracts "where unqualified opponents have been sacrificed to his money grabbing tactics."

Aroused because he says the foreign boxer consistently has refused to meet boxers of high rank, Isaacs said the situation called for immediate investigation and appointed a committee, headed by General John V. Clinnin, Chicago, to report findings to the public.

Controls 34 States

The committee also included Walter H. Liginer, Milwaukee and Thomas E. Donohue, Hartford, Conn., and was authorized to recommend disciplinary action in facts justified that course. Isaacs said the invader may be barred from rings in N. B. A. territory if he continued picking unsuitable opponents. The N. B. A. controls boxing in 34 states.

General Clinnin telephoned Isaacs that he protested against George Trafton, Chicago boxing novice, being offered for Carnera to slaughter at Kansas City. Such a match Isaacs also said, was a commercial and not a sporting affair.

Isaacs said the N. B. A. would take no action until the committee made its report and that he could not interfere with Carnera's fight at Denver tonight with Jack McAuliffe.

WILL MEET ANYBODY

Denver, March 28 (AP)—Primo Carnera will meet any man in the world in a prize fight ring, provided the box office arrangements are satisfactory, he said through an interpreter here today when informed that his American "knokout parade" was being investigated by the National Boxing association.

Stanley M. Isaacs, president of the national association, announced in Cincinnati today that an investigation of Carnera's "set up" bouts was being conducted and that an effort would be made to put an end to the big Italian's 'apparent bunco act" by forcing him to meet worthy opponents.

"You can't expect a man to go up against a world champion for a thousand dollars or so," Carnera was interpreted as saying, "but you can say that Primo Carnera will meet any man in the world in a fight ring provided the arangements are satisfactory."

Bill Duffey, Carnera's American representative, said that Italian had not had a voice in picking his opponents. The selections, he said had been left to the promoters in the various cities where the "Ambling Alp" has appeared.

RUNYAN AHEAD OF GOLF FIELD

21-Year-Old Pro Cops North and South Open Tourney

By DILLON L. GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pinehurst, N. C., March 28 (AP)—With a large crowd billowing about him and stampeding in his path, Paul Runyan, 21-year-old assistant professional from Bloomfield, N. J., today shot near perfect golf for two rounds to win the 28th annual north and south open golf tournament here.

The young shot maker, who learned his tricks on the Concordia course in Little Rock, Ark., calmly pounded out rounds of 72 and 70 today to post the winning score of 291 and score a decisive victory over his more experienced rivals.

Runyan, with the exception of a bad second round when he soared to 77, shot steady near par golf throughout the gruelling contest. His four round scores of 72-77-72-70 show the consistency of his game.

Brilliant Shots

The new champion started the final round tied with two veteran professionals and a stroke behind Whiffy Cox of Brooklyn, the three quarter mark leader. Realizing that only a sub par card would enable him to win, he started matching perfect figures throughout the nine and cut loose with some brillaint shots on the home nine for a 70, while the veterans blew their lead in that nerve wracking home stretch.

Two strokes behind the winner, Frank Walsh, ruddy faced Chicago pro, finished with a brilliant 69 for a gross score of 293. He collected $1,000 second prize money. But for three short putts he missed on his home nine, Walsh would have outstroked Runyan. His four round score reads 75-72-72-69.

Horton Smith, the defending champion, was six strokes from the leader with 297. Smith turned in a 70 on his last round but he took entirely too many strokes on the earlier rounds.

Favor Use of Three Officials In Games

Columbus, O., March 28 (AP)—Use of three officials in college basketball games instead of two and the abandonment of the center jump will be suggested at a meeting of the national advisory committee on coaches' rules in Chicago, April 4, by Harry G. Olsen, Ohio State University coach and chairman of the committee, he said today.

The suggestions, if adopted, by the committee, probably will be put up for consideration at a meeting of basketball coaches late in April, he said.

Three officials at a basketball game result in greater efficiency and smoother handling, Olsen said.

He declared that the center jump or "tip off" is gradually losing favor because of the advantage it gives teams with an abnormally tall center.

Walch's Condition Is Slightly Better

Meriden, Conn., Mar. 28 (AP)—A slight improvement was noted today in the condition of "Big Ed." Walsh, former Chicago White Sox pitching ace, who is seriously ill at the Meriden hospital following an operation for appendicitis and peritonitis.

Walsh passed "a fairly good day," it was reported at the hospital. Dr. I. S. Otis, his surgeon, said tonight that "everything is very satisfactory so far."

So ingenious is the ventilating system of the New Empire Hall, at Olympia, England, that 30,000 feet of fresh air enters through the ceilings and goes out through the door levels every minute.

New Equipment—The local Postal Telegraph office has installed what is known as a simplex type-telegraph printer machine to be used in conjunction with their Morse circuits. The type-telegraph machine can be operated by any typist, according to Manager Carl Lang. The keyboard is similar to the standard typewriter keyboard. Messages that are typed on it automatically print themselves on a similar machine at the distant point, thus eliminating errors that may occur when the Morse code is used by the human element.

Albert Laviolette has returned from Clarence Creek, Ont., where he attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Moise Laviolette, which was held Monday, March 24. Mrs. Laviolette was born at Bombay, N. Y., September 24, 1854. She is survived by her husband, five daughters and five sons.

Detroit Has Few Liquor Car Sales

Detroit, March 28 (AP)—In the east, boats and automobiles seized from rum runners may find their way back into the traffic through periodic sales conducted by the government, but liquor importers in the Detroit sector get few such "breaks," according to Col. H. E. Pickert, collector of customs at this point.

All seized boats and autos needed for the border partol are commandeered for that service.

That leaves few for sale, but when sales are held, the government reserves the right to reject any bids which appear to be from rum runners or their agents. Only the larger cabin cruisers, among the boats, are sold, as a rule and few of them have elaborate "plants" already built in which would save rum runners the expense and trouble of fixing up such craft for the traffic, should they succeed in acquiring a seized boat.

The overwhelming majority of the automobiles seized have no "plants" which could be utilized by runners.

Would Send Youths To Study In Rome

Rome, Mar. 28 (AP)—Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati, Catholic titular head of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee, has disclosed during his stay in Rome a new plan of higher lay education that may lead to a strong development of the potentialities of the laity.

His plan is to duplicate the procedure now followed by American cardinals, archbishops and bishops with regard to the clergy. Priests or student-priests who evidence special ability are sent to Rome for one, two, three or more years of study and Archbishop McNicholas' idea is to send talented Catholic youths who do not have vocations for the priesthood also to Europe for a short course of study. He would defray their expenses out of funds especially collected for this purpose.

When these young men returned from Europe following their period of study, they would form the nucleus of concentrated championship of the faith.

GETS REPTILE SPECIMENS

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—Frederick M. Gaige, zoologist, has returned to the University of Michigan after a two months' field trip on the Yucatan peninsula under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation. He brought back to the university museum a collection of 6,000 specimens, insects, reptiles and amphibians.

Persia now has 25 landing fields.

Plans to Glide Across Atlantic

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 28 (AP)—The first attempt at a transcontinental flight in a motorless aircraft will be made in a glider made in Ann Arbor.

Captain Frank Hawks will take off from the west coast Sunday in the glider, known as "The Eaglet," towed behind a motored airplane. He expects to make the tow flight in eight days, with seven overnight stops.

The glider was designed and built by Prof. R. E. Franklin of the University of Michigan and has been purchased for the flight by Captain Hawks who holds the transcontinental speed records both east and west for airplane flights. The motorless ship has an enclosed cockpit and is equipper with the first telephone and radio ever installed in a glider. A telephone wire, supported by the tow cable, will enable Hawks to converse in flight with J. D. Jernigin, Jr., pilot of the towing plane. The plane will carry the dry cells for supplying current.

A three tube radio receiving set connected to Hawks' telephone and Hawks will be able to listen to radio programs without interfering with the use of the telephone. Ten pounds of mail will be carried in the glider, the first mail ever transported in a motorless plane.

"The Eaglet" has a 50 foot wing span and a length of 21 feet. It weighs 300 pounds empty. Loaded its weight will approximate 500 pounds.

Wallace Franklin of Ann Arbor, brother of the designer and builder of the glider, has been invited to accompany Jernigin in the towing plane. The flight will start from San Diego, Cal.

SILK FROM THE AIR

London—It might be possible before long to take cellulose, the raw material from which paper, artificial silk, and other things are made, directly from the air. That's the prediction of Dr. Herbert Levinstein, president of the Society of Chemical Industry. Since sugar and celulose come from the same chemical units, and since the former has been produced synthetically from the air, the doctor believes the latter can also.
